The Era of Assisted Reproductive Technologies Tailored to the Specific Necessities of Species, Industry and Case Reports
David Martín Hidalgo, 2021-08-16 Nowadays assisted reproductive technologies ARTs have a pivotal role not only in achieving fertilization in subfertile animals but they are also involved in the management of the herd decreasing disease spread and even allowing offspring sex selection Nonetheless there are differences between species or even within species that have led researchers worldwide to focus on those differences in order to bypass these specific difficulties This Special Issue titled The Era of Assisted Reproductive Technologies Tailored to the Specific Necessities of Species Industry and Case Reports and published in Animals is composed of 12 original manuscripts and three reviews that offer an overview of current and future ARTs used to improve reproductive outcomes mainly focused on farm animals such as horse pig bovine rabbit and ovine species Thus the Special Issue covers information from the classical point of view including comparative studies of different semen extenders to the most advanced technologies of sperm selection by thermotaxis or chemoattractants as well as the improvement of sperm features by red light irradiation The female and embryo contributions to ART outcomes are also covered for instance with a study that improves our knowledge by the metabolomic description of follicular fluid composition or the description of better culture conditions of oocytes In brief this Special Issue provides a balanced overview of emerging techniques and technologies used to preserve improve rescue or even create fertility for domestic farm animals with high economic impact
