Numbers 20-36 L. Michael Morales,2024-11-07 Often overlooked and regularly misunderstood the Book of Numbers is a daunting prospect for scholars preachers and students It covers part of the Israelites wilderness years between Egypt and the land of the promise seemingly very different to and detached from our modern context Yet God's covenant love remains the same and the book of Numbers remains extremely relevant for ecclesiology and for the church's life within the already not yet of the present wilderness era In his magisterial new commentary Morales carefully demonstrates the ongoing relevance of Numbers its positive vision for life and the surprising challenge it offers to contemporary Christians This detailed and comprehensive commentary sheds fresh light on a part of the Bible often referenced yet rarely preached and explained Within this commentary on Numbers 20-36 form and structure sections examine the context source critical and form critical issues and rhetorical devices of each passage Comment sections offer thorough detailed exegesis of the historical and theological meaning of each passage and explanation sections offer a full exposition of the theological message within the framework of biblical theology and a commitment to the inspiration and authority of the Old Testament Volume 2 covers chapters 20-36 and includes Morales rigorous bibliography and extensive indices An annotated Translation of the Hebrew text by L Michael Morales forms the basis for his comments The Apollos Old Testament Commentary aims to take with equal seriousness the divine and human aspects of Scripture It expounds the books of the Old Testament in a scholarly manner accessible to non experts and it shows the relevance of the Old Testament to modern readers Written by an international team of scholars these commentaries are intended to serve the needs of those who preach from the Old Testament as well as scholars and all serious students of the Bible

Remote Online Language Assessment: Eliciting Discourse from Children and Adults Natalia Gagarina,Angel Chan,Wenchun Yang,2024-08-20 Being able to collect valid data is crucial for empirical science disciplines such as linguistics developmental psycholinguistics clinical psycholinguistics and speech and hearing sciences In recent years there has been an increasing use of digital devices for remote language assessments such as online elicitation of language samples apps for eliciting expressive and productive lexical abilities and online questionnaires With the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic still affecting many lives globally there have been numerous disruptions of face to face in person language assessments leading many researchers to conduct their language assessments online Despite the necessity of remote language assessments and the convenience they may bring to both assessors and assessees the potential merits limits and problems of remote testing have not yet been systematically explored and understood This timely Research Topic seeks contributions that mobilize new evidence and or insightful and nuanced discussions to address questions such as can we control online testing so that it is as good as face to face in person testing and if so how Do we have evaluative evidence of such practices and if so how robust is the evidence What adaptations and concerns can and cannot be accommodated at the present time What opportunities are offered by recent technological advances Are there certain conditions in which online testing works better or worse Last but not least how do differences between offline in person language assessments and online remote assessments affect the results of testing The current topic has two main foci the first deals with the assessment of conversational discourse in general and narrative discourse in particular in both children and young adults Communicative competence at the discourse level has been considered an essential and ecologically valid component in language assessments of children and adults for three key reasons 1 this competence is crucial for an individual's everyday functioning and academic and social life 2 it provides information about an individual's socio cognitive and linguistic abilities and 3 it is a versatile test of language skills at the levels of content form use and their integration The second focus is on comparing the results elicited via in person assessments and remote online assessments This Research Topic welcomes empirical articles discussing new evidence perspective and opinion papers on issues at the conceptual methodological interface and methods articles presenting approaches that can offer opportunities for remote testing of developmental discourse supported by recent technological advances Potential themes may include but are not limited to comparisons of remote versus in person testing modes using a within participants research design learner variables such as age gender language status monolingual multilingual and clinical status typically developing children and adults children and adults with clinical conditions such as developmental language disorder autism spectrum disorder which may affect the efficacy of remote testing linguistic variables such as the use of referential and relational devices and mental state language which may be subject to more variations when being assessed remotely new methods that offer opportunities for the remote testing of developmental and adult discourse supported by recent technological advances articles addressing the same research question within developmental narrative discourse but using different i e either online or offline research methods Neurodevelopmental Processes in Health and Disease: Bridging Basic and Clinical Research Edna Grünblatt, Susanne Walitzka, Tanja Maria Michel, Tracey Petryshen, 2021-12-03 CERN Courier, 2016 Forest and Stream, 1897 Gardening Illustrated, 1893 Moore's Rural New Yorker, 1888 New Breeder's Gazette, 1891 The Fishing Gazette, 1896 Railroad Age Gazette, 1887
