Ataman Aksoy, John C. Beghin, 2004-11-01. Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries presents research findings based on a series of commodity studies of significant economic importance to developing countries. The book sets the stage with background chapters and investigations of cross-cutting issues. It then describes trade and domestic policy regimes affecting agricultural and food markets and assesses the resulting patterns of production and trade. The book continues with an analysis of product standards and costs of compliance and their effects on agricultural and food trade. The book also investigates the impact of preferences given to selected countries and their effectiveness, then reviews the evidence on the attempts to decouple agricultural support from agricultural output. The last background chapter explores the robustness of the global gains of multilateral agricultural and food trade liberalization. Given this context, the book presents detailed commodity studies for coffee, cotton, dairy, fruits and vegetables, groundnuts, rice, seafood products, sugar and wheat. These markets feature distorted policy regimes among industrial or middle-income countries. The studies analyze current policy regimes in key producing and consuming countries, document the magnitude of these distortions and estimate the distributional impacts, winners and losers of trade and domestic policy reforms. By bringing the key issues and findings together in one place, Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries aids policy makers and researchers both in their approach to global negotiations and in evaluating their domestic policies on agriculture. The book also complements the recently published Agriculture and the WTO which focuses primarily on the agricultural issues within the context of the WTO negotiations. The Earth and Its Inhabitants ...: Mexico, Central America, West Indies Elisée Reclus, 1891.

Essay from the year 2006 in the subject Economics International Economic Relations grade 2. 0 Tecnológico de Monterrey course International Political Economy language English abstract. The North American Free Trade Agreement is an agreement between Mexico, Canada and the USA which is based on the principles of the European Union. It was established in January 1, 1994 and has the purpose to lower trading barriers as much as possible to reach a more fluent international trade which means more gains from trade for each of the countries. Even though the three countries are neighbors, it is remarkable that two first world countries and the third, e.g. second world country Mexico, are responsive to such a close agreement. One wonders how the interaction between those countries works. Indicators for poverty in Mexico are, for example, that in 2002 half of the population in Mexico was living in poverty and one fifth in extreme poverty. As we can see by taking a closer look to their GDP as an indicator for their financial and economic situations, we recognize large differences.
