Parents Make The Difference Nourishing Literacy Development Through Shared Reading:

Parents Make the Difference Susan Voorhees,2014 Reading to your children has been recommended to parents of young children for decades by literacy experts The act of shared book reading can promote academic language and literacy development this is grounded in research Not all shared book reading however is equally effective In Parents Make the Difference Nourishing Literacy Development through Shared book Reading Susan Voorhees guides parents to conduct enjoyable and productive book reading interactions with their young children Parents will be informed about language and literacy learning in the early years and how to best engage in before during and after shared book reading activities While this book was written as an invitation to parents teachers will also find it to be informative in guiding them to establish a supportive climate for sound developmentally appropriate literacy teaching practices It is the responsibility of all shareholders to nourish the literacy development of young children as they naturally move toward learning to read and become lovers of reading o read and become lovers of reading o read and become lovers of reading o read and become lovers of reading

Resources in Education ,1990    Child Development in Africa Robert Serpell,Kofi Marfo,2014 In this volume African scholars engaged in research on the continent reflect on their recent and ongoing empirical studies They discuss the strengths and limitations of research methods theories and interventions designed outside Africa to spur innovative research on the continent And they explore how insights from African philosophical theoretical and empirical work can be combined with exogenous forms of knowledge to generate understanding of the processes of African children s development in ways that are responsive to local contexts and meaningful for indigenous stakeholders A new field of African child development research is emerging in African societies focusing on children as valued and vulnerable members of society and potential civic leaders of the future Systematic inquiries are now designed to enhance our understanding of how African children think to discover effective ways of communicating with them and to inform successful strategies of promoting their health education and preparation for adult responsibilities in society This is the 146th volume in this Jossey Bass series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development Its mission is to provide scientific and scholarly presentations on cutting edge issues and concepts in this subject area Each volume focuses on a specific new direction or research topic and is edited by experts from that field

Helping Young Children Learn Language and Literacy Carol Vukelich,James F. Christie,Billie Enz,2002 As a resource book designed for teachers of preschool and kindergarten students the text provides classroom strategies case studies classroom management techniques and home school connections to facilitate teaching the language arts Strategies for the bilingual classrooms are also included    Teaching Language and Literacy James F. Christie,Carol Vukelich,Billie Enz,2007 This text does an exemplary job of presenting current early literacy research and methods in a manner that can be understood and respected Also its emphasis upon workshop based instruction is very appealing to me as a long time advocate for this approach to literacy Scott A L Beck Georgia Southern University The third edition of Teaching Language and Literacy Preschool Through the Elementary Grades integrates a constructivist emergent literacy perspective with science based instructional practices. This unique focus on theories and techniques that have proven to be successful helps pre-service and in-service teachers translate principles into classroom practice. Perfect for any course with a focus on language, the book covers the development and teaching of both oral and written language in preschool through elementary grades. Its emphasis on diversity includes special features that describe how teachers can adjust instruction to meet the needs of second language and bilingual learners. In addition, the third edition focuses on scientifically based reading research SBRR throughout, blending these findings with other perspectives in a value added approach to language and literacy teaching and learning. New features include Emphasis on a blended approach to language and literacy instruction, including both authentic learning linked to activities and developmentally appropriate teaching. Activities such as Linking Knowledge to Practice help students connect theory to practices they observe in preschool and kindergarten classrooms. In-depth coverage of new federal and state literacy initiatives, standardized literacy assessments, and latest practices in ongoing literacy assessment.

Gunning, 2005 With its inclusive view of literacy, Creating Literacy Instruction for All Students emphasizes methods that have been validated by research and practice while delivering the basics of all major aspects of reading and writing. The Fifth Edition of this best selling book continues to be a comprehensive practical text that provides its readers with step by step guidance for teaching reading and writing. Written by distinguished author Tom Gunning, this text features sample lessons for virtually every major literacy skill strategy and offers numerous reinforcement suggestions and generous listings of materials. With its careful balance between the theory and the practice, readers are always given the theories behind the methods, encouraging them to choose, adapt, and construct their own approaches as they create a balanced program of literacy instruction. Special emphasis has been given to adapting instruction for English language learners, struggling readers and writers, and special needs students. Throughout the book, unlike comparable texts, the new edition stresses effective steps for closing the gap between achieving and struggling readers as mandated by the No Child Left Behind legislation and Reading First Reading Problems Joyce Holt Jennings, JoAnne Schudt Caldwell, Janet W. Lerner, 2006 Would the world be a better place if human societies were somehow able to curb their desires for material goods Saleem Ali's pioneering book links human wants and needs by providing a natural history of consumption and materialism with scientific detail and humanistic nuance It argues that simply disavowing consumption of materials is not likely to help in planning for a resource scarce future given global inequality development imperatives and our goals for a democratic global society Rather than suppress the creativity and desire to discover that is often embedded in the exploration and production of material goods which he calls the treasure impulse Ali proposes a new environmental paradigm one that accepts our need to consume treasure for cultural and developmental reasons but warns of our concomitant need to conserve In evaluating the impact of treasure consumption on resource rich countries he argues that there is a way to consume responsibly and alleviate global poverty
