Participatory Critical Rhetoric Theoretical Methodological:

Participatory Critical Rhetoric Michael Middleton, Aaron Hess, Danielle Endres, Samantha Senda-Cook, 2015-12-16

Increasingly rhetorical scholars are using fieldwork and other ethnographic performance and qualitative methods to access document and analyze forms of everyday in situ rhetoric rather than using already documented texts In this book the authors argue that participatory critical rhetoric as an approach to in situ rhetoric is a theoretically methodologically and praxiologically robust approach to critical rhetorical studies This book addresses how participatory critical rhetoric furthers understanding of the significant role that rhetoric plays in everyday life through expanding the archive of rhetorical practices and texts emplacing rhetorical critics in direct conversation with rhetors and audiences at the moment of rhetorical invention and highlighting marginalized voices that might otherwise go unnoticed This book organizes the theoretical and methodological foundations of participatory critical rhetoric through four vectors that enhance conventional rhetorical approaches 1 the political commitments of the critic 2 rhetorical reflexivity and the role of the embodied critic 3 emplaced rhetoric and the interplay between the field text and context and 4 multiperspectival judgment that is informed by direct participation with rhetors and audiences In addition to laying the groundwork and advocating for the approach Participatory Critical Rhetoric also offers significant contributions to rhetorical theory and criticism more broadly by revisiting the field's understanding of core topics such as role of the critic text context audience rhetorical effect and the purpose of criticism Further it enhances theoretical conversations about material rhetoric place space affect intersectional rhetoric embodiment and rhetorical reflexivity

Doing Gender Justice Shui-yin Sharon Yam, Natalie Fixmer-Oraiz, 2025-03-25 How reproductive justice birth workers and queer parents build kinships and care relations that resist oppressive structures Anti trans policies that restrict the boundaries of gender reproduction and family formation are a dangerous form of reproductive injustice with grave impacts on trans nonbinary and gender nonconforming people In Doing Gender Justice Shui yin Sharon Yam and Natalie Fixmer Oraiz explore the intricate intersections of gender race and reproductive politics to illuminate how language and care practices can be reshaped to promote transformations at the structural level and in small everyday ways Only by enacting justice oriented forms of reproductive care and relations Yam and Fixmer Oraiz contend could activists and health care workers challenge the dominant affective and ideological investments in binary gender and its complicity in white supremacy Set against a backdrop of relentless anti trans legislation and attacks on bodily autonomy this groundbreaking work shares the lived experiences and advocacy of queer and trans parents gender inclusive birth workers and reproductive justice activists Through rich storytelling and rigorous analysis of ethnographic data and cultural artifacts the authors highlight innovative tactics that trans and nonbinary people use to dismantle oppressive systems and create a more expansive definition of family and kinship Organized to examine how the dominant gender system influences discursive and cultural practices in multiple contexts this book amplifies rhetorical inventions and tactics deployed by reproductive justice advocates birth workers and queer people who have created trans inclusive spaces for reproduction and family making Doing Gender Justice offers a compelling vision for a world where all forms of family and kinship are possible and where reproductive justice can be advanced in a deeply intersectional and coalitional way

Methodologies for the Rhetoric of Health & Medicine Lisa Meloncon, J. Blake Scott, 2017-07-06 This volume charts new methodological territories for rhetorical studies and the emerging field of the rhetoric of health and medicine In offering an expanded behind the scenes view of rhetorical methodologies it advances the larger goal of differentiating the rhetoric of health and medicine as a distinct but pragmatically diverse area of study while providing rhetoricians and allied scholars new ways to approach and explain their research Collectively the volume's 16 chapters Develop through extended examples of research creative theories and methodologies for studying and engaging medicine's high stakes practices Provide thick descriptions of and heuristics for methodological invention and adaptation that meet the needs of new and established researchers Discuss approaches to researching health and medical rhetorics across a range of contexts e.g. historical transnational socio cultural institutional and about a range of ethical issues e.g. agency social justice responsiveness

Local Theories of Argument Dale Hample, 2021-03-25 Argumentation is often understood as a coherent set of Western theories birthed in Athens and developing throughout the Roman period the Middle Ages the Enlightenment and Renaissance and into the present century Ideas have been nuanced developed and revised but still the outline of argumentation theory has been recognizable for centuries or so it has seemed to Western scholars The 2019 Alta Conference on Argumentation co sponsored by the National Communication Association and the American Forensic Association aimed to question the generality of these intellectual traditions This resulting collection of essays deals with the possibility of having local theories of argument local to a particular time a particular kind of issue a particular place or a particular culture Many of the papers argue for reconsidering basic ideas about arguing to represent the uniqueness of some moment or location of discourse Other scholars are more comfortable with the Western traditions and find them congenial to the analysis of arguments that originate in discernibly distinct circumstances The papers represent different methodologies cover the experiences of different nations at different times examine varying sorts of argumentative events speeches court decisions food choices and sound explore particular personal identities and the issues highlighted by them and have different overall orientations to doing argumentation scholarship Considered together the essays do not generate one simple conclusion but they stimulate reflection about the particularity or generality of the experience of arguing and therefore the scope of our theories
