Carrington,2015-11-05 There are many considerations that influence how a transaction is structured including tax considerations The most basic tax issue is whether to structure the transaction as taxable or tax free In general there are four basic structures for a corporate acquisition 1 a taxable acquisition of a target corporations stock 2 a taxable acquisition of a target corporations assets 3 a tax free acquisition of the target corporations stock or 4 a tax free acquisition of a target corporations assets While at first blush it may seem that it is always more desirable to structure a transaction as tax free this is not always the case As an initial matter the requirements for structuring a transaction as a tax free reorganization which are set forth in 368 are quite strict The strictures imposed by 368 may not always be compatible with the business objectives of the parties to the transactions making resort to a taxable structure more desirable. If the fair market value of a target corporation's assets is greater than the target's basis in such assets, the purchaser may wish to acquire a fair market value basis, i.e., a stepped-up basis in such assets, something that is only possible in a taxable asset acquisition or a taxable stock acquisition for which a 338 election is made. Tax Accounting in Mergers and Acquisitions gives in-depth practical coverage of today's key issues in corporate acquisitions, dispositions, reorganizations, and restructurings from a transactional perspective. It will help your client: 1. Decide if the transaction should be taxable or nontaxable; 2. Structure the deal for the best results, stock or asset acquisition; 3. Achieve desired business objectives.
