Pax mundi Klas Arnoldson,2021-12-02    Pax Mundi Klas Pontus Arnoldson,1892 It is natural that the advocates of international Peace should sometimes grow discouraged and impatient through what they are tempted to consider the slow progress of their cause Sudden outbursts of popular feeling selfish plans for national aggrandisement unremoved causes of antipathy between neighbours lead them to overlook the general tendency of circumstances and opinions which when it is regarded on a large scale is sufficient to justify their loftiest hopes It is this general tendency of thought and fact corresponding to the maturer growth of peoples which brings to us the certain assurance that the Angelic Hymn which welcomed the Birth of Christ advances slowly it may be as men count slowness but at least unmistakably towards fulfilment There are pauses and interruptions in the movement but on the whole no one who patiently regards the course of human history can doubt that we are drawing nearer from generation to generation to a practical sense of that brotherhood and that solidarity of men both words are necessary which find their foundation and their crown in the message of the Gospel    PAX MUNDI KLAS PONTUS. Cooper,1991-12-19 Despite the liberalized reconfiguration of civil society and political practice in nineteenth century Europe the right to make foreign policy devise alliances wage war and negotiate peace remained essentially an executive prerogative Citizen challenges to the exercise of this power grew slowly Drawn from the educated middle classes peace activists maintained that Europe was a single culture despite national animosities that Europe needed rational inter state relationships to avoid catastrophe and that internationalism was the logical outgrowth of the nation state not its subversion In this book Cooper explores the arguments of these patriotic pacifists with emphasis on the remarkable international peace movement that grew between 1889 and 1914 While the first World War revealed the limitations and dilemmas of patriotic pacifism the shape if not substance of many twentieth century international institutions was prefigured in nineteenth century continental pacifism The Arena ,1895
