Armed State Building Paul D. Miller,2013-08-15 Since 1898 the United States and the United Nations have deployed military force more than three dozen times in attempts to rebuild failed states Currently there are more state building campaigns in progress than at any time in the past century including Afghanistan Bosnia Kosovo the Democratic Republic of Congo Haiti Sudan Liberia Cote d Ivoire and Lebanon and the number of candidate nations for such campaigns in the future is substantial Even with a broad definition of success earlier campaigns failed more than half the time In this book Paul D Miller brings his decade in the U S military intelligence community and policy worlds to bear on the question of what causes armed international state building campaigns by liberal powers to succeed or fail The United States successfully rebuilt the West German and Japanese states after World War II but failed to build a functioning state in South Vietnam After the Cold War the United Nations oversaw relatively successful campaigns to restore order hold elections and organize post conflict reconstruction in Mozambique Namibia Nicaragua and elsewhere but those successes were overshadowed by catastrophes in Angola Liberia and Somalia The recent effort in Iraq and the ongoing one in Afghanistan where Miller had firsthand military intelligence and policymaking experience are yielding mixed results despite the high levels of resources dedicated and the long duration of the missions there Miller outlines different types of state failure analyzes various levels of intervention that liberal states have tried in the state building process and distinguishes among the various failures and successes those efforts have provoked Responsibility for Human Rights David Jason Karp,2014-03-27 An original analysis of which global actors are responsible for human rights in today s world and why

EU and US Foreign Economic Policy Responses to China Joachim Schild,Dirk Schmidt,2023-12-19 This book examines EU and US bilateral trade and investment relations with China their attempts to level the economic playing field and to narrow the reciprocity gap in market openness It explores the extent of EU and US policy change the underlying factors accounting for this change and compares EU and US foreign economic policy answers to an adversary increasingly perceived as an unfair economic competitor and as a systemic rival The book covers a broad range of policy areas from trade wars trade defense instruments their reform and use investment screening and export control to industrial policies It makes eclectic use of different strands of International Relations International Political Economy and Policy Analysis theorizing to account for the extent of and differences in the EU and US responses The People s Republic of China s stellar economic and political rise combined with the resilience of its unfair trade practices its reinforced authoritarian repression at home and its ever more assertive foreign economic policy has triggered a shift in perceptions of China followed by equally profound policy change in the European Union and the US This book expertly charts and explains this significant shift in stance This book will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners in the fields of EU trade policymaking US foreign foreign economic policy EU China US economic relations European political economy and more broadly to European studies Asian studies International Relations International

Political Economy and transatlantic relations     Scientific Realism and International Relations Jonathan Joseph, Colin Wight, 2010-07-30 Contemporary theory of international politics faces a twofold problem the critical engagement with legacies of national power politics in connection to 20th Century International Relations and the regeneration of notions of humanity This book contributes to this engagement by a genealogy of thoughts on war peace and ethics Provided by publisher

Rethinking Democracy Promotion in International Relations Jessica Schmidt, 2015-08-20 This book traces and conceptualises the changing notion of democracy and demonstrates how democracy promotion finds itself at the heart of contemporary international discourses and policies Democracy promotion is widely considered to constitute a hypocritical and failed grand international narrative of the 1990s and has allegedly been replaced by other more pressing and academically more captivating concerns such as conflict management statebuilding and climate change This book challenges this position and argues that the core notions of democracy promotion such as empowerment inclusion and responsiveness are a key concern of contemporary international policymakers Drawing on the work of Michel Foucault Hannah Arendt as well as John Dewey it investigates the notion of democracy and modality of its promotions through the policy fields of conflict management statebuilding and climate change The central development the book observes is the reconceptualisation of democracy from the constituted sphere of the public to the lived relations of the social The book argues that the novel rationality of democracy and its promotion offers a particular solution to governing impasses in a world perceived to be globalised and complex which accounts for democracy s current but neglected centrality This book will be of much interest to students of democracy intervention statebuilding global governance and IR in general

Linking the European Union Emissions Trading System Charlotte Unger, 2021-01-25 This book focuses on the linking of the European Union Emissions Trading System EU ETS with other independent regional ETS While rich practical and academic research has evolved on the economic and technical side of ETS linking political drivers and barriers have so far been underrepresented in this debate Filling this lacuna and based on international relations theory existing research and qualitative fieldwork this book introduces the range of political conditions that influence linking such as political leadership and stakeholder activity Specifically it analyzes which of these aspects have played a role in three different linking activities of the EU 1 a failed linking attempt EU ETS California Cap and Trade Program 2 a successful linking treaty EU ETS Switzerland Emissions Trading System and 3 an agreed upon but not realized link EU ETS Australia Carbon Pricing Mechanism Through an interrogation of these examples Dr Unger concludes that it is not only the technical challenges or the overall economic benefit but rather domestic interests structural aspects and external international political developments that have jointly dominated linking activities especially those in which the EU takes part This book will be of great interest to scholars and policy makers working in climate policy and EU environmental politics

International Politics on the World Stage John T. Rourke, 2005 This concise text provides students and instructors with a comprehensive overview of world politics inviting them in a straightforward and accessible way to explore international relations and its new challenges A hallmark of the text is the authors position that politics affect the lives of all of us and that the individual can have an impact whether small or large by being politically aware and by taking action The European Union and the International Forest Negotiations Gunilla Reischl,2009

The Politics of the New International Financial Architecture Susanne Soederberg,2004-11 Recent years have witnessed a veritable epidemic of financial crises from Mexico through South East Asia Russia Brazil and now Argentina The rich industrial countries led by the United States have had to respond This book examines the G7's attempts over the past decade to re establish rules and a degree of order in the world financial system through the creation of the Financial Stability Forum and the G20 which they are calling the New International Financial Architecture Susanne Soederberg asks Why has the New International Financial Architecture emerged At whose initiative What does it involve What are the underlying power relations Who is benefiting Will it really work The author argues however that this tinkering with the capitalist system will not achieve either sustained economic growth or stability in financial markets let alone enhance the capability of developing countries to tackle the problems of mass poverty and social injustice

Islam and Statecraft Jon Hoffman,2025-01-23 Instead of religion influencing political outcomes this analysis examines how politics influences religious outcomes Dominant analyses examining the utilization of religion as a tool of statecraft in the Middle East remain overwhelmingly fixated on how Islam influences the foreign policies of different state actors not how political considerations often influence the forms Islam assumes and how religion itself is often molded according to strategic considerations of political elites That Islam due to its unique or exceptional relationship with politics drives political outcomes at the international level in the Middle East is a myth this book shatters by demonstrating how the political considerations of ruling elites specifically the intersection of domestic and foreign threats influence and constrain the kinds of religious soft power strategies adopted by states in the region This book develops a comprehensive analytical framework for the notion of religious soft power capable of incorporating power based identity based and ideational variables to examine how states couple religion with their broader foreign policy conduct This framework is applied to the Middle East through the specific examination of three countries Saudi Arabia Qatar and the United Arab Emirates in the period following the Arab Uprisings to demonstrate how specific religious narratives identities histories and ideologies are constructed by political elites in the Middle East for the advancement of what are inherently political objectives namely the imperatives of regime preservation and power projection

Education Mamokgethi Setati,2009 Mathematics Science and Technology Education MSTE emerged as a research discipline in the 1960s and continues to reflect the distinctive flavour and character of its roots in Western societies and science In this mode often based on positivist frameworks research environments are characterised by idealised environments sanitised research conditions depoliticised neutralised data and contested analyses The book arises from needs in the mathematics and science education research community in Southern Africa for a methodology text that is responsive to rapidly changing educational environments and to the challenges and possibilities of research in contexts characterised by inequality diversity poverty violence the particular history within which research takes place and the consequent ethical and socio political considerations The book also acknowledges and works with the practical and political realities of education and schooling in much of Southern Africa where schools are often poorly resourced and communication with them is often difficult and where research methodologies and ethics have to take account of the complexities of school operations and school community relationships The book does not aim to position itself as a counterpoint to conventional research methodologies It aims to build on the established base of mainstream MSTE and seeks to elevate and widen the debates raise methodological issues and offer innovative possibilities and pedagogies To this end the chapters present theoretical meta level reflections on issues in research design in the fields of mathematics science and technology education In this shift of focus the book draws on a number of fairly recent research approaches These include ethno mathematics cultural studies in science education place based education community based education environmental education socially critical theory and education for social and economic development Electronic Government Ari-Veikko Anttiroiko,2008 This collection meets the need for quality authoritative research in this domain with an authoritative collection Studies from the electronic government researchers worldwide enable libraries in academic government and other settings to provide a collection on topics like digital government electronic justice government to government information policy and cyber infrastructure research and methodologies Provided by publisher How was Life? J. L. van Zanden, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2014 How was life in 1820 and how has it improved since then What are the long term trends in global well being Trends in real GDP per capita may not fully reflect changes in other dimensions of well being such as life expectancy educational attainment personal security and gender inequality The product of collaboration between the OECD the OECD Development Centre and the CLIOINFRA project this report represents the work of a group of economic historians to systematically chart long term changes in the dimensions of global wellbeing and inequality making use of the best sources and expertise currently available and the most recent research carried out within the discipline The historical evidence reviewed in the report is organized on ten different dimensions of well being that mirror those used by the OECD in its report How's Life www.oecd.org/howslife per capita GDP real wages educational attainment life expectancy height personal security political institutions environmental quality income inequality and gender inequality Negotiations of the "new World" Sabine Selchow, 2017 In this book I develop the argument that the omnipresence of the contemporary adjective global is more than a linguistic curiosity I argue it is a political phenomenon and as such a valuable albeit unconventional object of study for scholars outside the linguistics discourse I argue that the omnipresence of the contemporary adjective global constitutes the discursive reproduction of a web of meanings that is best labelled new world As such the omnipresence of the contemporary adjective global constitutes a distinct dimension of the enduring contestation over the construction of the world Given the word's current popularity and unscrutinised existence as well as the loaded nature of the web of meanings new world that it brings out I argue this dimension is not just a minor matter but plays an important hence research worthy role in the contemporary symbolic struggle over the world My conceptualisation of the omnipresence of the contemporary adjective global as the re-production of a web of meanings new world is grounded in two central insights that arise from my empirical engagement with the adjective global The first of these two insights is the empirically grounded understanding that the contemporary adjective global is closely enmeshed with the talk about different ideas associated with the word globalisation I call this talk globalisation discourse As I demonstrate the contemporary adjective global has come to be used in the sense of outcome of globalisation This makes the adjective a new word What is new about the contemporary global I argue is that it implies ideas that are associated with the word globalisation I develop my argument that the contemporary adjective global is best be taken as a new word by building on relevant discussions among lexicographers about when a word is appropriately called new as well as by drawing on a theory of language and meaning according to which language and meaning are not natural and referential but conventional and productive The second central insight that arises from my

empirical engagement with the contemporary global and that underlies my conceptualisation of the omnipresence of global as the re production of a web of meanings new world refers to the word globalisation It is the insight that all utterances which contain the word globalisation can be seen as constituting a discursive production of an object that is best labelled new world In other words my conceptualisation of the omnipresence of global builds on my understanding that what all uses of the word globalisation have in common despite and in addition to the myriad of meanings that are associated with this word in whichever context it is used is that they imply the proclamation of a new world that came This insight makes what I call globalisation discourse different from existing conceptualisations under this label such as the one by Hay and Smith 2005 Normally the globalisation discourse is conceptualised based on a scholarly preconception of what the word globalisation refers to such as market integration or the spread of neoliberalism In contrast my suggestion that we understand the uses of the word globalisation as a discursive production of a web of meanings that is best called new world is grounded in an approach that takes the polysemy of the word globalisation seriously In addition it builds on an elaboration of the question how and when the concept's globalisation and the neologism globalisation came to be in the true Foucault 1981 61 i.e. became socially accepted and normal tools to grasp the world As I discuss in this book developments which have come to be addressed with the word globalisation existed before this neologism became popular at the end of the 1980s and in the course of the 1990s Given that meaning is not inherent in social reality but conventional the question arises why a new word was perceived to be needed and accepted at the end of the 1980s and 1990s i.e. at that particular moment in time My answer to this question is that this was because the end of the Cold War was perceived to have brought out a new world for which existing conceptual tools were perceived to be inadequate This new world was perceived as having produced a conceptual vacuum This is apparent in assessments such as that of IR theorist James N Rosenau 1990 5 who argued after the end of the Cold War that observers were left without any paradigms or theories that adequately explain the course of events I argue it was this perceived vacuum that opened the discursive door and let the concept's globalisation and the neologism globalisation step in to fill it Consequently the use of the word globalisation can be conceptualised as re producing and filling the conceptual space new world with meaning It is the synthesis of these two insights that allows me to conceptualise the omnipresence of the contemporary adjective global as a distinct phenomenon namely as a discursive re production of a web of meanings called new world This phenomenon I argue in this book is relevant and interesting in two respects
