The Significance of Doorway Positions in English Medieval Parochial Churches and Chapels Geoffrey Sedlezky, 2023-08-24 This book analyses the positions of external church doorways in England to investigate the significance that positioning had for the function and design of these buildings The author proposes a link between the design and function of parochial churches and chapels with the number and attributes of their doorways Land, People and Power in Early Medieval Wales Rhiannon Comeau, 2020 This study examines the structure of the early medieval Welsh landscape Using a cantref hundred in south west Wales as a case study it draws on a multidisciplinary comparative analysis to overcome the limits imposed by restricted material culture survival and limited written sources It examines the patterns of power and habitual activity that defined spaces and structured lives and considers the temporal relationships both seasonal and longue durée that shaped them Four key findings are presented Firstly that key areas of early medieval life agriculture tribute payment legal processes and hunting were structured by a longstanding seasonal patterning that is preserved in twelfth and thirteenth century Welsh law church and well dedications and fair dates Secondly it presents at cantref level the first systematic survey of assembly site evidence in Wales and sets it in comparative context Thirdly it demonstrates that though poor material culture preservation and limited written records have hitherto restricted identification and characterisation of key locations in the early medieval Welsh landscape a multidisciplinary dataset allows effective identification of focal zones through indicators known from other areas of north west Europe Fourthly the widely used multiple estate model is found to be an inadequate descriptor of the early medieval Welsh landscape An alternative approach is proposed Methodologically it demonstrates the value of a multidisciplinary approach especially the systematic use of place names which is novel in a Welsh context It also provides key resources for other researchers by geolocating pre 1700 place names from a previously published survey creating GIS resources polygons and geolocated databases from the 1840s tithe map and schedules for parishes in its detailed case study areas and providing a geolocated database of 16th century demesne and Welsh law landholdings in the cantref English Medieval Shrines John Crook, 2011 The cult of saints is one of the most fascinating manifestations of medieval piety It was intensely physical saints were believed to be present in the bodily remains that they had left on earth Medieval shrines were created in order to protect these relics and yet to show off their spiritual worth at the same time allowing pilgrims limited access to them English Medieval Shrines traces the development of such structures from the earliest cult activities at saintly tombs in the late Roman empire through Merovingian Gaul and the Carolingian Empire via Anglo Saxon England to the great shrines of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries The greater part of the book is a definitive exploration on a basis that is at once thematic and chronological of the major saints cults of medieval England from the Norman Conquest to the Reformation These include the famous cults of St Cuthbert St Swithun and St Thomas Becket and lesser known figures such as St Eanswyth of Folkestone or St Ecgwine of Evesham John Crook an independent architectural historian archaeological consultant and photographer is the foremost authority on English shrines

He has published numerous books and papers on the cult of saints

Medieval Architecture; Its Origins and Development, with Lists of Monuments and Bibliographies Arthur Kingsley Porter, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1908 edition Excerpt monument of the XII century the cathedral of Bayeux has come down to us in Normandy and this was never fully completed until the Gothic period Unquestionably many buildings of this epoch have been lost having been rebuilt or destroyed in later times and it must always be remembered that we have many parish churches of small size but often of exquisite design Yet when all allowances have been made the monumental poverty of Normandy during the XII century is most marked This curious relaxation of building activity after the early bloom of the last half of the XI century is strangely parallel to the lapse which occurred about the same time in the Lombard style Like Lombardy Normandy grasped the torch of architectural progress and advanced it rapidly for a moment only to let it suddenly fall In one point however the two styles are in striking contrast Architecture never declined in Normandy never indeed stood still Important buildings ceased to be built and Norman architecture never reached the goal to which it had been tending but on the other hand progress once scored was never relinquished Throughout the XII century detail continued to be elaborated and refined stonecutting and technique constantly improved and in at least one very essential direction structural advancement of the most notable kind was made Thus Norman architecture does not leave upon the mind that keen feeling of disappointment which is experienced in studying the Lombard buildings of the same time and we shall find that the Norman architectural genius far from being dead was ready to arise to new triumphs under the more favorable conditions of the XIII century This architecture of the XIII century was distinctly inspired by the Gothic
