Neolithic Scotland Timber Stone Earth And Fire:

Neolithic Scotland Gordon Noble, 2006-06-19 This is an account of the Neolithic period in Scotland from its earliest traces around 4000 BC to the transformation of Neolithic society in the Early Bronze Age fifteen hundred years later Gordon Noble interprets Scottish material in the context of debates and issues in European archaeology comparing sites and practices identified in Scotland to those found elsewhere in Britain and beyond He considers the nature and effects of memory sea and land travel ritualisation island identities mortuary practice symbolism and environmental impact He synthesises excavations and research conducted over the last century and more bringing together the evidence for understanding what happened in Scotland during this long period His long term and regionally based analysis suggests new directions for the interpretation of the Neolithic more generally After outlining the chronology of the Neolithic in Europe Dr Noble considers its origins in Scotland He investigates why the Earlier Neolithic in Scotland is characterised by regionally distinct monumental traditions and asks if these reflect different conceptions of the world He uses a long term perspective to explain the nature of monumental landscapes in the Later Neolithic and considers whether Neolithic society as a whole might have been created and maintained through interactions at places where large scale monuments were built He ends by considering how the Neolithic was transformed in the Early Bronze Age through the manipulation of the material remains of the past Neolithic Scotland provides a comprehensive approachable and up to date account of the Scottish Neolithic Such a book has not been available for many years It will be widely welcomed Timber, Stone, Earth and Fire Gordon Noble, 2004

Woodland in the Neolithic of Northern Europe Gordon Noble, 2017-02-15 A detailed consideration of the ways in which human environment relations altered with the beginnings of agriculture in the Neolithic of northern Europe Petrification

Processes in Matter and Society Sophie Hüglin, Alexander Gramsch, Liisa Seppänen, 2021-08-13 Petrification is a process but it also can be understood as a concept This volume takes the first steps to manifest materialize or petrify the concept of petrification and turn it into a tool for analyzing material and social processes The wide array of approaches to petrification as a process assembled here is more of a collection of possibilities than an attempt to establish a firm law generating theory Divided into three parts this volume's twenty plus authors explore petrification both as a theoretical concept and as a contextualized material and social process across geological prehistoric and historic periods Topics connecting the various papers are properties of materials preferences and choices of actors the temporality of matter being and becoming the relationality between actors matter things and space landscape urban space built space and perceptions of the following generations dealing with the petrified matter practices and social relations Contributors to this volume study specifically whether particular processes of petrification are confined to the material world or can be seen as mirroring following triggering or contradicting changes in social life and general world views Each of the authors explores for a period or a specific feature practices and changes that led to increased conformity and regularity Some authors additionally focus on the

methods and scrutinize them and their applications for their potential to create objects of investigation things people periods in order to raise awareness for these or to shape or invent categories This volume is of interest to archaeologists geologists architectural historians conservationists and historians Prehistoric Materialities Andrew Jones,2012-07-05 This volume focuses on the analysis of materials from the Neolithic and Early Bronze Age periods of Britain and Ireland in the study of prehistoric artefacts Challenging the assumption that materials are inert and shaped by past societies it argues that it is rather the materials which shaped the societies Reading Between the Lines Kenneth Brophy,2015-10-05 Reading Between the Lines The Neolithic Cursus Monuments of Scotland is the first systematic analysis of Scotland s cursus monuments and is written by one of the foremost scholars of the Neolithic in Scotland Drawing on fifteen years of experience of cropmark interpretation as well as his involvement in several excavations of cursus monuments and contemporary sites Kenneth Brophy uncovers some of the secrets of the Neolithic landscape While outlining the physical characteristics of the cursus this book also addresses the limitations of this kind of typological description when applied to monuments which varied so remarkably in terms of materiality and size Moving beyond a morphological account Brophy considers what can be said of this diverse group of sites and how they were actually built and used in prehistory in light of several decades of aerial reconnaissance and excavation in Scotland Through a close study of the differences as well as the similarities between these structures this book offers a nuanced account of cursus monuments finally allowing this important monument type to be better understood and placed alongside others of the period Offering exciting new ways of thinking about these enigmatic yet important monuments Reading Between the Lines The Neolithic Cursus Monuments of Scotland is an essential resource for students and specialists in British prehistory providing an introduction to the Early Neolithic archaeology of lowland Scotland as well as a meditation on broader aspects of monumentality and architecture Neolithic Scotland Gordon Noble,2006 Providing an account of the Neolithic period in Scotland from its earliest traces to the transformation of Neolithic society in the Early Bronze Age 1500 years later this book synthesizes and interprets excavations and research and brings together the evidence essential to understanding the first farming communities of Scotland Neolithic of Mainland Scotland Kenneth Brophy,2016-03-16 Archaeologists show us how the Neolithic human lived in mainland Scotland What was life like in Scotland between 4000 and 2000BC Where were people living How did they treat their dead Why did they spend so much time building extravagant ritual monuments What was special about the relationship people had with trees and holes in the ground What can we say about how people lived in the Neolithic and early Bronze Age of mainland Scotland where much of the evidence we have lies beneath the ploughsoil or survives as slumped banks and ditches or ruinous megaliths Each contribution to this volume presents fresh research and radical new interpretations of the pits postholes ditches rubbish dumps human remains and broken potsherds left behind by our Neolithic forebears From the APF What was life like in Scotland between 4000 and 2000BC Where were people living How did they treat their dead Why did they spend so much time building extravagant ritual monuments What was special about the relationship people had with trees Why was so much time and effort spent digging holes and filling them back up again What can we say about how people lived in the Neolithic and early Bronze Age of mainland Scotland where much of the evidence we have lies beneath the plough soil or survives as slumped banks and filled ditches or ruinous megaliths This book will draw together leading experts and young researchers to present fresh research and outline radical new interpretations of the pits postholes ditches rubbish dumps human remains and broken potsherds left behind by our Neolithic forebears Much of this evidence has come to light in the past few decades putting the emphasis very much lowland mainland Scotland as opposed to more famous Orcadian Neolithic sites Inspired by the work of Gordon Barclay the leading scholars of Scotland's Neolithic in the last 40 years the chapters in this book offer a wide ranging analysis of the evidence we have for the first farmers in Scotland

Building the Great Stone Circles of the North Colin Richards, 2013-11-30 Of all prehistoric monuments few are more emotive than the great stone circles that were built throughout Britain and Ireland From the tall elegant pointed monoliths of the Stones of Stenness to the grandeur of Stonehenge and the sarsen blocks at Avebury circles of stone exert a magnetic fascination to those who venture into their sphere In Britain today more people visit these structures than any other form of prehistoric monument and visitors stand in awe at their scale and question how and why they were erected Building the Great Stone Circles of the North looks at the enigmatic stone structures of Scotland and investigates the background of their construction and their cultural significance

A Neolithic Ceremonial Complex in Galloway Julian Thomas, 2015-07-31 A complex enclosure identified by aerial photography at Dunragit Galloway was demonstrated by excavation to have been of Late Neolithic date and comprised three concentric timber ramped post rings 120 300 m in diameter The two outer post rings each comprised large uprights interspersed with smaller members probably forming a continuous palisade Each was a single phase structure and the posts had rotted out The inner ring had largely been made up of large freestanding posts most of which had rotted away but some of which had been deliberately removed the post holes being considerably larger than those of the two outer rings Where posts had been pulled out a number of elaborate deposits had been placed in the crater left by the post removal The entrances to the post rings are not aligned and the preferred interpretation is that the monument as a whole had two phases of construction in each of which a timber circle was surrounded by a palisade and in which the middle post ring succeeded the outer or vice versa The enclosure had been preceded by a post defined cursus monument in which all the post had been burned in situ and numerous other post holes were located on the same axis as the cursus extending beyond the monument itself The most elaborate entrance connected with the middle post ring is composed of two parallel lines of features presumably post holes opening toward the south and aligned on a large earthen mound at Droughduil 400 m away Droughduil Mote though recorded as a medieval motte recalls the association of various very large mounds with with henges or palisaded enclosures as at Silbury Hill Wiltshire Excavation demonstrated that it had been constructed with stepped sides and that a stone cairn had been constructed on its summit A series of optically stimulated luminescence dates on the accumulated sand over the surface of the mound demonstrated that it was certainly not medieval and was probably Neolithic in date

Going Over Alasdair Whittle, Vicki Cummings, 2007-11-22 This wide ranging collection of essays covers the transformation from Mesolithic hunter gatherers to Neolithic farmers It offers a comprehensive and authoritative treatment by leading specialists and provides the best available overview of this fundamental change in human society

Landscape of the Megaliths Mark Gillings, 2008 The Longstones Project was a joint universities programme of excavation and survey designed to develop a fuller understanding of the context and dynamics of monument construction during the later Neolithic period in the Avebury region This text presents the results of the project Scotia, 2005

Current Archaeology, 2007 Prehistoric Journeys Vicki Cummings, Robert Johnston, 2007 This collection of thirteen papers focuses on what it meant to be on the move at different times in prehistory Ideas of journeys and travel are integral to many traditions of interpreting the prehistoric archaeological record Travel was after all the driving force behind the formation and transformation of identity How ironic it is that this feature of prehistory has been so overlooked when the ancient world's discovery in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries occurred primarily as the result of travel The contributors to this volume see journeys as an integral part of prehistoric life socially meaningful which must be understood within their prehistoric contexts

Beyond the Grave Jonathan Last, 2007 This collection of fourteen papers presents the latest research into the Neolithic and Bronze Age barrows of Britain

The Top Books of the Year Neolithic Scotland Timber Stone Earth And Fire The year 2023 has witnessed a noteworthy surge in literary brilliance, with numerous compelling novels enthralling the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of popular books, exploring the engaging narratives that have enthralled audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This heartfelt tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover masterfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can prevail. Neolithic Scotland Timber Stone Earth And Fire : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This intriguing historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids absorbing storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Neolithic Scotland Timber Stone Earth And Fire : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
