Neoteny and History Michael H. Riley, 2008-03 Essays explaining the Tinker a young person who travels around visiting married couples The Origin of Humanness in the Biology of Love Humberto Maturana Romesín, Gerda Verden-Zöller, 2012-02-21 The central concern of this book is us human beings The authors basic question is How is it that we can live in mutual care have ethical concerns and at the same time deny all that through the rational justification of aggression The authors answer this basic question indirectly by providing a look into the fundamentals of our biological constitution concentrating on what they term emotioning that is the flow of emotions in daily life that guides the flow of the systemic conservation of a manner of living Maturana and Verden Zöller claim that the fundamental emotion that gave rise to humans as sapient languaging beings was love and that this remains our fundament even when other emotions become socially prevalent Journal of Morphology, 2000 A Translation of Essays on the Evolutionary Morphology of Plants Armen Leonovich Takhtadzhian, 1959 Voices of Historical and Contemporary Black American Pioneers Vernon L. Farmer, Evelyn Shepherd-Wynn, 2012-05-15 The stories of black American professionals both historic and contemporary reveal the hardships and triumphs they faced in overcoming racism to succeed in their chosen fields This extraordinary four volume work is the first of its kind a comprehensive exploration of the obstacles black men and women both historic and contemporary have faced and overcome to succeed in professional positions Voices of Historical and Contemporary Black American Pioneers includes the life and career histories of black American pioneers past and present who have achieved extraordinary success in fields as varied as aviation and astronautics education social sciences the humanities the fine and performing arts law and government and medicine and science The set covers well known figures but is also an invaluable source of information on lesser known individuals whose accomplishments are no less admirable Arranged by career category each section of the work begins with a biographical narrative of early black pioneers in the field followed by original interviews conducted by the editors or autobiographical narratives written by the subjects In all more than 150 scholars and professionals share inspiring insights into how they persevered to overcome racism and succeed in an often hostile world A Historical Guide to World Slavery Seymour Drescher, Stanley L. Engerman, 1998 Eminent scholars provide an overview of what we now know about slavery as an institution and way of life in cultures around the globe from ancient times to the present day Drawing on the virtual explosion of empirical research and theoretical discussion of the subject over the past thirty years many of the articles overturn conventional wisdom and illuminate little known aspects of the subject with essays on topics such as concubinage eunuchs and occupational mobility Encyclopedia of Evolution Stanley A. Rice, 2009 Evolutionary science is not only one of the greatest breakthroughs of modern science but also one of the most controversial Perhaps more than any other scientific area evolutionary science has caused us all to question what we are where we came from and how we relate to the rest of the universe Encyclopedia of Evolution contains more than 200 entries that span modern evolutionary science and the history of its development This comprehensive volume clarifies many common misconceptions about evolution For example many people have grown up being told that the fossil record does not demonstrate an evolutionary pattern and that there are many missing links In fact most of these missing links have been found and their modern representatives are often still alive today The biographical entries represent evolutionary scientists within the United States who have had and continue to have a major impact on the broad outline of evolutionary science The biographies chosen reflect the viewpoints of scientists working within the United States Five essays that explore interesting questions resulting from studies in evolutionary science are included as well The appendix consists of a summary of Charles Darwin's Origin of Species which is widely considered to be the foundational work of evolutionary science and one of the most important books in human history The five essays include How much do genes control human behavior What are the ghosts of evolution Can an evolutionary scientist be religious Why do humans die Are humans alone in the universe

The Aquarist and Pondkeeper, 1975 The Journal of the Linnean Society Linnean Society of London, 1966 Rousseau, Nature, and History Asher Horowitz, 1987 Essays on the Evolutionary Morphology of Plants Armen Leonovich Takhtadzhian, 1959 Ontogeny and Phylogeny Stephen Jay Gould, 1977-08-02

Ontogeny recapitulates phylogeny was Haeckel's answer to the wrong one to the most vexing question of nineteenth century biology what is the relationship between individual development ontogeny and the evolution of species and lineages phylogeny In this the first major book on the subject in fifty years Stephen Jay Gould documents the history of the idea of recapitulation from its first appearance among the pre-Socratics to its fall in the early twentieth century Mr Gould explores recapitulation as an idea that intrigued politicians and theologians as well as scientists He shows that Haeckel's hypothesis that human fetuses with gill slits are literally tiny fish exact replicas of their water breathing ancestors had an influence that extended beyond biology into education criminology psychoanalysis Freud and Jung were devout recapitulationists and racism The theory of recapitulation Gould argues finally collapsed not from the weight of contrary data but because the rise of Mendelian genetics rendered it untenable Turning to modern concepts Gould demonstrates that even though the whole subject of parallels between ontogeny and phylogeny fell into disrepute it is still one of the great themes of evolutionary biology Heterochrony changes in developmental timing producing parallels between ontogeny and phylogeny is shown to be crucial to an understanding of gene regulation the key to any rapprochement between molecular and evolutionary biology Gould argues that the primary evolutionary value of heterochrony may lie in immediate ecological advantages for slow or rapid maturation rather than in long term changes of form as all previous theories proclaimed Neoteny the opposite of recapitulation is shown to be the most important determinant of human evolution We have evolved by retaining the juvenile characters of our ancestors and have achieved both behavioral flexibility and our characteristic morphology thereby large brains by prolonged retention of rapid fetal growth rates for example Gould concludes that there may be nothing new under the sun but permutation of the old within complex systems can do wonders As biologists we deal directly with the kind of material complexity that confers an unbounded potential upon simple continuous changes in underlying processes This is the chief joy of our science The American Midland Naturalist ,1978 A refereed broad spectrum journal publishing basic research in diverse disciplines in biology and varied taxa Animal Evolution George Stuart Carter,1951 Canadian Journal of Zoology ,1982

 Symposium on the Evolution of Terrestrial Vertebrates Gianfranco Ghiara,1991 Evolution Theodore Hildreth Eaton,1969 American Journal of Botany ,1977 Comments on the Osteology and Phylogeny of Ambystomatid Salamanders Joseph Anton Tihen,1958 Semiotica ,1987
