Primary PE: Unlocking the Potential Anne Williams, Joanne Cliffe, 2011-05-16 This book aims to address some of the aspects of primary physical education about which there is currently a dearth of high quality texts. It arises from several contextual elements that create a need for something a little different from books currently on offer. Most of these offer guidance on content and teaching skills across the activities of the National Curriculum together with supplementary information about key issues and processes for example assessing pupils or including those with special needs. This proposal focuses on learning about primary PE and its potential to contribute not only as a discrete curriculum subject but also across the whole curriculum and to some of the many strategies and initiatives that have been set up to enhance primary practice and achievement. Topics have been selected as the focus for the chapters in this book not only for their current significance within strategies and initiatives but for their potential to contribute to the enhancement of the curriculum in the longer term and particularly in the context of the recommendations of the Rose review and the imminent revisions to the primary national curriculum.

Elite Sport and Sport-for-All Richard Bailey, Margaret Talbot, 2015-08-11 Sport is often perceived as being divided into two separate domains: mass participation and elite. In many countries, policy and funding in these two fields are managed by separate agencies and investment is often seen as a choice between the two. Elite Sport and Sport for All explores the points of connection and sources of tension between elite and mass participation sport. The book's multi-disciplinary and international line up of contributors seeks to define, examine and develop solutions to this problematic relationship. Drawing on research and case studies from around the world with examples from Denmark, Canada, South Africa and Israel, the book explores key contemporary issues including: does effective talent identification require depth of participation? do elite performances inspire greater participation? the role of the Paralympic movement in mass participation.
