5 SENSES READING COMPREHENSION

Thinking: One Step Below Reading Comprehension

Background: The five senses—sight, touch, taste, smell, and hearing—allow us to experience the world around us. Each of the five senses has a specific way of experiencing the world around us.

Higher Order: One step below comprehension. This set of questions requires that students demonstrate an understanding of the text, but not necessarily the concepts. Students will be asked to answer questions that require them to make connections between the text and other concepts, but not necessarily explain the concepts.

Thinking: One step above comprehension. These questions require that students not only understand the text, but also demonstrate an understanding of the concepts. Students will be asked to answer questions that require them to make connections between the text and other concepts, but also explain the concepts.
