The field of educational technology has grown and changed greatly over the years. The most significant changes have been in the areas of hardware, software, and the integration of these technologies into the classroom. In the 1970s and 1980s, the focus was on basic skills and rote learning. By the 1990s, the focus had shifted to more complex, problem-solving tasks. Today, the focus is on personalized learning, where each student's needs and abilities are taken into account. This is made possible by advances in artificial intelligence, data analytics, and adaptive learning technologies. The future of educational technology is bright, with many new innovations on the horizon.
