Transitions in Post-Soviet Eurasia Archana Upadhyay, 2021-08-23 This book discusses the ideological and historical relevance of the term Eurasia as a concept in the global geopolitical and ethno-cultural discourse. It focuses on the contested meanings attached to the idea and traces its historical evolution and interpretations. The volume examines the contours and characteristics of power politics in the Eurasian landscape by exploring the dynamics of the contending and competing interests that have come to occupy the region, particularly in the aftermath of the disintegration of the Soviet Union. It further examines the multiple narratives that define the socio-political realities of the region and also the policies of the state actors involved by reflecting upon the multifaceted dimensions of the Eurasian issues. These include nation-building strategies, identity, ethnic conflicts, security, democratization, globalization, international migration, climate change, and energy extraction. The geopolitical and civilizational aspects of Eurasianism in which Russia occupies a pivotal geo-political place creates both opportunities and anxieties for other stakeholders in the region. The book also holistically analyses the developmental dimensions of the post-Soviet space and Eurasianism as a concept and political practice in domestic, regional, and global affairs. The book also analyses the developmental dimensions of the post-Soviet space and Eurasianism as a concept and political practice in domestic, regional, and global affairs.

China's Role in Afghanistan: a Capitalist Peace Approach Nerkez Opacin, 2014 The time has come to finally solve the quagmire in Afghanistan. Many recent concerns have been raised regarding the situation. For example, one of the main concerns is whether there could be another way that could lead to Afghanistan's security. This study attempts to address Chinese role in contributing to Afghanistan's stability through economic means. China in many ways should start to be seen as a potential factor that could lead to the stabilization of its own bordering region. Nowadays, many countries are rather afraid of Chinese policies and tend to be rather cautious towards it. The solution for that would be that countries rather than being afraid of Chinese policy should take a more opportunistic approach where China is seen as a country to benefit others. Chinese reluctance to be militarily involved in Afghanistan has presented huge criticisms towards its policy mainly from the U.S. point of view. China is even being considered as a free rider in Afghanistan. Meaning that at the expense of others that try to contribute to a more secure

Afghanistan China is getting its economic benefits out of this country without taking too much care to its security For the time being it seems like a controversy where China wants to invest heavily into Afghanistan but does not want to contribute to any military interventions for its security sake The question that lies ahead is whether China has any interests in a secure Afghanistan and how far China is willing to contribute to the process of stabilizing Afghanistan Could the economical collaboration become an important aspect that contributes to more security in Afghanistan Could the capitalist peace theory give some deeper understanding in this respect Answering these questions is not something that can be done easily One of the reasons is that in the field of studies about this particular issue not much has been researched about Both countries do express some interests in mutual cooperation however to clearly come to a conclusion of whether China is or could be an important factor that would lead to Afghanistan s development and stability requires further research Nevertheless enough information exists to shed some light on the issue through the presentation of the case study as well as to provide a starting point for broader analyses
