Oasis Collectif:

Mobility and pastoralism in the Egyptian Western Desert. Steinplätze in the Holocene regional settlement patterns Marina Gallinaro, 2018-03-15 This volume presents the results of a long study begun in 2004 within the framework of the Archaeological Mission in the Farafra Oasis of Egypt directed by Barbara Barich and Giulio Lucarini of the Sapienza University of Rome now under the auspices of ISMEO The book focuses on the features known as Steinplatz type hearths and their role in the settlement patterns of the human groups living in the Egyptian Western Desert during the middle and late Holocene Steinplatz type are concentrations of burned and fire cracked stones that vary in shape and size and have often been slightly elevated above the present ground level by post depositional erosion processes Occurring both as isolated features and in clusters they are often the only visible structures or even traces of ancient settlements The study of these features is closely interconnected with the mobility strategies of the communities that inhabited this desert region during a period of higher average rainfall than at present but also characterised by significant climate fluctuations with humid periods interrupted by dry spells and eventually ending in an overall trend towards greater desertification The use of the Steinplatz type hearths was most widespread in the second half of the sixth millennium BC when mobile occupation strategies replaced a more sedentary model An analysis of the Farafra Oasis Steinplatz type is coupled with a general reassessment of the subsistence and mobility models hitherto proposed for the Eastern Sahara suggesting an integrated occupation system for Farafra itself The economy of the forager herders of the middle Holocene during the climate optimum 6900-5550 cal BC seems to have relied significantly on herding small livestock but also on hunting and likely concentrated on the gathering of wild cereals such as sorghum During the climate optimum forms of seasonal stabilisation of the settlement strategy seem to emerge with the alternating occupation of two different winter and summer villages consisting of clusters of stone slab huts short term task specific camps using Steinplatz type logistically completed the system After this phase only short term camps with Steinplatz type were occupied These were probably directly dependent on the wettest areas at the centre of the oases and made use of a tethered exploitation strategy with brief movements from the central oasis daisy chain movements The use strategies of the Steinplatz type hearths within the mobile settlement system are outlined adopting a clear and immediately assessable model Yet although they are among the most distinctive of the Sahara's archaeological features Steinplatz type have received little systematic attention in recent decades Marina Gallinaro's work thus marks a new phase in their study one that draws them back into discussions of how early livestock keeping populations in Northeast Africa used the resources and landscapes to the west of the Nile along a trajectory of increasing aridification that eventually culminated in the desert we see today Lucidly written Gallinaro's volume will I believe help inspire individuals to take up the research agenda she sets out At a time when so much of the Sahara is off limits to archaeological fieldwork it is deeply gratifying to see here yet more evidence of the thoroughness and high quality that have characterized the work of Italian archaeologists in this region of Africa over many decades The continuing publication of their research Marina Gallinaro s included in the Arid Zone Archaeology monograph series will surely help sustain widespread interest in Saharan archaeology until it becomes possible to excavate and survey again free of current geopolitical restrictions May that day come soon Prof Peter Mitchell University of Oxford UK Revue des deux mondes ,1889 Plants and People in the African Past Anna Maria Mercuri,A. Catherine D'Andrea,Rita Fornaciari,Alexa Höhn,2018-07-31 There is an essential connection between humans and plants cultures and environments and this is especially evident looking at the long history of the African continent This book comprising current research in archaeobotany on Africa elucidates human adaptation and innovation with respect to the exploitation of plant resources In the long term perspective climatic changes of the environment as well as human impact have posed constant challenges to the interaction between peoples and the plants growing in different countries and latitudes This book provides an insight into overview of the manifold routes people have taken in various parts Africa in order to make a decent living from the provisions of their environment by bringing together the analyses of macroscopic and microscopic plant remains with ethnographic botanical geographical and linguistic research The numerous chapters cover almost all the continent countries and were prepared by most of the scholars who study African archaeobotany i e the complex and composite history of plant uses and environmental transformations during the Holocene Hydrologie du Sahara Algérien par Georges Rolland Georges Rolland,1894 The House of Serenos, Part II Paola Davoli,Nicholas Warner,2022-09-06 The House of Serenos Part II Amheida VI is the latest monograph in the Amheida series and the second volume dedicated to the archaeology of the large lite residence now known as the House of Serenos at Amheida or the ancient city of Trimithis in the Dakhla Oasis of the Western Desert of Egypt The Amheida project started in 2001 and since 2008 New York University has been the primary sponsoring institution The House of Serenos was one of the three main areas under investigation between 2004 and 2010 For more information about the Amheida Project please follow this link In this volume Paola Davoli provides an authoritative account of the architectural and archaeological history of the house from its construction through its various renovations and expansions to its ultimate abandonment in the late fourth century CE Her discussion includes a systematic treatment of building techniques materials features finds and stratigraphy and she carefully contextualizes this lite house at the edge of the Roman Empire with its impressive wall decorations and dome in its desert environment the evolving urban plan of Trimithis and the wider culture of late antique Egypt The volume also includes an appendix by Nicholas Warner on the traditional techniques economics and presentation of the full scale reconstruction of the House of Serenos that the project built on site in 2008 2009 as a visitor center The book will be a key resource for specialists interested in Roman and Late Antique Egypt the archaeology of Greco Roman Egypt and ancient domestic architecture and settlement patterns

Ancient Kingdoms of West Africa Dierk Lange,2004 Sub Saharan African history does not feature in the world history of the classical period because it continues to be dominated by an emphasis on local paradigms Using hitherto unexplored sources this study places parts of West and also East Africa on the map for the ancient world It shows in particular that the main clan and state structures of several West African kingdoms are based on the same dualistic pattern as that of the Canaanite Israelite and hence also Phoenician societies Supported by written records oral traditions and cult dramatic performances these similarities suggest the existence of early trans Saharan contacts reaching back to the pre Roman period The Phoenician slave trade appears to have been the single most important factor explaining the transfer of these organizational forms from North Africa to the sub Saharan region where they are particularly prominent in the Hausa and Yoruba societies Similar social institutions were transmitted from the Semitic world to the Horn of Africa as a result of the ancient myrrh and frankincense trade Their subsequent contextualization and local adaptation led to the rise of a number of great kingdoms in West and East Africa Some of these polities grew so powerful that they conquered and controlled the successor states of their former metropolitan suzerains Dealing with regional history as well the volume presents the development of the West African empires of Ghana Mali and Songhay from the new perspective of ethnogenesis There are numerous original maps charts and photographs to illustrate the text Dierk Lange is Professor of African History at the University of Bayreuth in Germany He presents here the results of more than thirty years of research devoted to the history of Africa and explains his more recent focus on relations with Phoenician North Africa Before his appointment in Bayreuth he studied African and Islamic history as well as anthropology in Paris worked on Arabic texts for four years in Cairo and taught African and Islamic history for five years at the University of Niamey He crossed the Sahara several times and undertook more than fifteen research trips to Nigeria Niger and Chad His publications in three languages include two books numerous articles in learned journals and two contributions to the UNESCO history of Africa He is unique in comparing African cultural forms with those of the ancient Near East
