Wireless and Satellite Systems Prashant Pillai, Yim Fun Hu, Ifiok Otung, Giovanni Giambene, 2015-10-08 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 7th International Conference on Wireless and Satellite Services WiSATS 2015 held in Bradford UK in July 2015. The conference was formerly known as the International Conference on Personal Satellite Services PSATS, mainly covering topics in the satellite domain. As the scope of the conference widened to include wireless systems, the conference was renamed to WiSATS. The 29 revised papers were presented at the conference in three technical sessions and one special session on Network Coding for Satellites. WiSATS 2015 also hosted two workshops along with the main conference. The first workshop, Communication Applications in Smart Grid CASG 2015, focused on the merging area of using communication technology within the electricity power grid for smart monitoring and control. The second workshop, Advanced Next Generation Broadband Satellite Systems BSS 2015, focused on the use of satellite systems for providing next generation broadband services. ThompsonCourierRakeRegister_2018-09-20_all.pdf, 2018-09-20

Lyu, 2002-05-08 Magnetic storms may cause damage to satellites, radiation hazard to astronauts, disruption of radio communications, and interruption of ground electric power lines. Space weather prediction becomes an important issue to be addressed in the twenty-first century. International Solar Terrestrial Program (ISTP) employs five satellites to probe the solar wind and magnetosphere, providing valuable information for space weather prediction. The Asia Pacific region is becoming one of the economic centers in the world. The continuous drive for scientific and technological progress in parallel is evidenced by the establishment of many space research organizations in many countries of this area. In Taiwan, the National Space Program Office (NSPO) established her third satellite program COSMIC Constellation Observing Systems for Meteorology, Ionosphere, and Climate, which is a science experiment to demonstrate the utility of atmospheric radio limb soundings from a constellation of six low earth orbiting satellites in operational weather prediction, space weather monitoring, and climate monitoring and research. In order to provide a forum to discuss the many new results in this rapidly moving field and to forge international collaborations, a three-day COSPAR Colloquium on Space Weather Study Using Multipoint Techniques was held. This colloquium has provided a forum for experts from the international community to present new results on the timely topic of space weather. Plasma Environment of a Synchronous Orbit Satellite Arthur L.
