Teaching for EcoJustice Rita J. Turner, 2015-05-22 Teaching for EcoJustice is a unique resource for exploring the social roots of environmental problems in humanities based educational settings and a curriculum guidebook for putting EcoJustice Education into practice. It provides model curriculum materials that apply the principles of EcoJustice Education giving pre and in service teachers the ability to review examples of specific secondary and post secondary classroom assignments lessons discussion prompts and strategies that encourage students to think critically about how modern problems of sustainability and environmental destruction have developed their root causes and how they can be addressed. The author describes instructional methods she uses when teaching each lesson and shares insights from evaluations of the materials in her classroom and by other teachers. Interspersed between lessons is commentary about the rationale behind the materials and observations about their effect on students.

Wilderness Comes Home Christopher McGrory Klyza, 2001 The first book to look at wilderness in the northeastern US. Wilderness Comes Home features a new approach based on ecological reserve design to protect biological diversity rewilding and restoring lands to wilderness and embedding wilderness in a landscape of sustainably managed farmland and forestland. It addresses major theoretical and practical aspects of this important issue whether why and how to reestablish wilderness areas in the Northeast. Although Western wilderness models already exist for undeveloped areas Eastern models are still evolving. Protection and social management are being urged not for the forest primeval but for recovering areas in which returning species such as moose and peregrine falcons roam over new growth softwoods and hardwoods interspersed with the stone walls that once marked field boundaries.
