Jane Pratt Marion Elliott Deerhake,2024-04-16 On May 25th 1946 after 22 years as a congressional secretary Jane Pratt was elected as North Carolina's first congresswoman The press reported with great interest how Miss Jane won by a landslide with only a 100 campaign budget She hit the ground running voting to the pass the Atomic Energy Act working tirelessly to mitigate a century of flood disasters in western North Carolina and serving the constituents she knew so well This first biography of Congresswoman Jane Pratt recounts her youth and fascinating career on Capitol Hill It also provides a unique federal view of North Carolina's early 20th century history After working as a rare female newspaper editor in the early 1920s Pratt became secretary to five tarheel congressmen over some 30 years Her career spanned the roaring twenties the Great Depression World War II and the Cold War Pratt's amazing network was a who's who of leaders in North Carolina and Washington DC Her decision not to run for re election offers insight into why 46 years passed before the state elected another woman to Congress

Israel's Wars of Attrition Avi Kober,2009-09-11 This book analyzes the way Israel has coped with nine wars of attrition from the 1950s to the recent Second Lebanon War 2006 questioning the belief that Western democracy cannot sustain prolonged wars of attrition Challenging Israel with attrition has been compatible with the Arab way of war which emphasizes staying power and with the belief that democracies cannot tolerate wars of attrition either economically or psychologically Israel for its part developed a self image of incapacity to sustain prolonged wars committing itself to a traditional offensive approach to blitzkrieg whenever possible The book offers an account of nine wars of attrition that Israel was involved in over almost 60 years from Palestinian infiltration and fedayeen activities against Israel in the early 1950s through to the Second Lebanon War in 2006 The author uses these cases to challenge the myth that Israel cannot afford to become involved in a draining war of attrition Focusing on central aspects typical of Western democracies engaged in wars of attrition operational effectiveness the societal staying power the economic burden of the war moral dilemmas and conflict management problems the book challenges the myth that Israel cannot afford to become involved in a draining war of attrition while at the same time highlighting the fact that in its wars of attrition Israel has not always succeeded in avoiding undesired escalation This book will be of much interest to students of strategic studies Israeli history Middle Eastern politics and security studies in general Avi Kober is a member of the Department of Political Studies at Bar Ilan University Israel and is a Senior Research associate with the BESA Center for Strategic Studies Flipping the Story on Disability and Violence Patsie Frawley, Nancy Fitzsimons, 2025-09-30 Internationally there is a growing awareness that domestic family and sexual violence is a social issue that results from social structures and relational contexts that have positioned women as less than men Alongside this growing awareness has come social action by women and their allies that aim to change these social and relational structures using an intersectional framing of oppression People with disabilities especially people with an intellectual disability have been largely excluded from this social action However for decades they have been challenging the oppressive social and relational structures that frame them as of less value than non disabled people Aligned with this self advocacy are social ecological models that look systemically to understand why interpersonal violence occurs and to prevent violence This book introduces a unique flipped social ecological model and applies it to approaches from across the world that are working from the societal community relationship and individual levels to challenge the vulnerable victim discourse through positioning people with intellectual and other disabilities as social change agents shaping their safer lives Divided into six chapters and providing case examples from Australia the United States New Zealand the United Kingdom Norway Sweden and the Global South this book profiles work done by government and community based anti violence service sectors in partnership with people with intellectual disability and their allies as well as work on sexuality rights and disability advocacy that is contributing to the social effort to prevent interpersonal violence against people with an intellectual disability It is a must read resource for anyone doing interpersonal violence prevention research and work and can be used as primary or supplemental reading for students doing coursework and research in disability studies gender studies community psychology sociology public health and social work Transforming Museums in the Twenty-first Century Graham Black, 2012-03-12 In his book Graham Black argues that museums must transform themselves if they are to remain relevant to 21st century audiences and this root and branch change would be necessary whether or not museums faced a funding crisis It is the result of the impact of new technologies and the rapid societal developments that we are all a part of and applies not just to museums but to all arts bodies and to other agents of mass communication Through comment practical examples and truly inspirational case studies this book allows the reader to build a picture of the transformed 21st century museum in practice Such a museum is focused on developing its audiences as regular users It is committed to participation and collaboration It brings together on site online and mobile provision and through social media builds meaningful relationships with its users It is not restricted by its walls or opening hours but reaches outwards in partnership with its communities and with other agencies including schools It is a haven for families learning together And at its heart lies prolonged user engagement with collections and the conversations and dialogues that these inspire The book is filled to the brim with practical examples It features an introduction that focuses on the challenges that face museums in the 21st century an analysis of population trends and their likely impact on museums boxes showing ideas models and planning suggestions to guide development examples and case studies illustrating practice in both large and small museums an up to date bibliography of landmark research including numerous websites Sitting alongside Graham Black's previous book The Engaging Museum we now have a clear vision of a museum of the future that engages stimulates and inspires the publics it serves and plays an active role in promoting tolerance and understanding within and between communities

Scenography Expanded Joslin McKinney, Scott Palmer, Stephen A. Di Benedetto, 2017-06-29 Scenography Expanded is a foundational text offering readers a thorough introduction to contemporary performance design both in and beyond the theatre. It examines the potential of the visual, spatial, technological, material and environmental aspects of performance to shape performative encounters. It analyses examples of scenography as sites of imaginative exchange and transformative experience and it discusses the social, political and ethical dimensions of performance design. The international range of contributors and case studies provide clear perspectives on why scenographic design has become a central consideration for performance makers today. The extended introduction defines the characteristics of 21st century scenography and examines the scope and potentials of this new field. Across five sections the volume provides examples and case studies which richly illustrate the scope of contemporary scenographic practice and which analyse the various ways in which it is used in global cultural contexts. These include mainstream theatre, practice, experimental theatre, installation and live art performance in the city, large scale events and popular entertainments and performances by and for specific communities

Bioviolence William Watkin, 2021-07-18 Aylan, Isis, Begum, Grenfell, Trump, Harambe, Guantanamo, Syria, Brexit, Johnson, COVID, migrants, trolling, George, Floyd, Trump, Gazing over the fractured, contested territories of the current global situation. Watkin finds that all these diverse happenings have one element in common. They occur when biopolitical states in trying to manage and protect the life rights of their citizens habitually end up committing acts of coercion or disregard against the very people they have promised to protect. When states tasked with making us live find themselves letting us die then they are practitioners of a particular kind of force that Watkin calls bioviolence. This book explores and exposes the many aspects of contemporary biopower and bioviolence: neglect, exclusion, surveillance, regulation, encampment, trolling, fake news, terrorism and war. As it does so it demonstrates that the very term violence is a discursive construct, an effect of language made real by our behaviours embodied by our institutions and disseminated by our technologies. In short, bioviolence is how the contemporary powers that be make us do what they want. Resolutely interdisciplinary this book is suitable for all scholars students and general readers in the fields of IR political theory philosophy the humanities sociology and journalism Who's who in America ,2003 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2004 Farmers and Consumers Market Bulletin ,2009 Costume in Performance Donatella Barbieri,2017-06-29 Winner of Best Performance Design and Scenography Publication Award Prague Quadrennial 2019 This beautifully illustrated book conveys the centrality of costume to live performance Finding associations between contemporary practices and historical manifestations costume is explored in six thematic chapters examining the transformative ritual of costuming choruses as reflective of society the grotesque transgressive costume the female sublime as emancipation costume as sculptural art in motion and the here and now as history Viewing the material costume as a crucial aspect in the preparation presentation and reception of live performance the book brings together costumed performances through history These range from ancient Greece to modern experimental productions from medieval theatre to modernist dance from the fashion plays to contemporary Shakespeare marking developments in both culture and performance Revealing the relationship between dress the body and human existence and acknowledging a global as well as an Anglo and Eurocentric perspective this book shows costume s ability to cross both geographical and disciplinary borders Through it we come to question the extent to which the material costume actually co authors the performance itself speaking of embodied histories states of being and never before imagined futures which come to life in the temporary space of the performance With a contribution by Melissa Trimingham University of Kent UK Fred Wilson Maurice Berger,Jennifer A.
