A Gettysburg Photo Tour Jack Kunkel, 2013-01-24 Come back in time with me as we tour the exact locations on the Gettysburg battlefield where events happened both momentous and mundane during the battle that changed American history We know for sure exactly where certain events happened because we can match the modern day locations to where the old period photographs were taken The Gettysburg battlefield was unique in the Civil War in that it was both heavily photographed and well preserved allowing us to follow in the exact footsteps of the original photographers who took photos that they considered the most worthy at that time Though no photos were taken while the battle was in progress a large number were taken just a few days later while Lee's army was still retreating back to Virginia and before mothers learned their boys lay dead at a place called Gettysburg All of the best of the period photos known taken of Gettysburg in the days or month after the battle are included in this book most with easily followed map locations of where they were taken and even GPS coordinates Where no immediate photos were taken of an interesting subject I've included the earliest photo available sometimes one or two decades after the battle In all you'll find over 100 then now Gettysburg photos in this book as well as numerous landscape photos showing modern views of the battlefield Whether you tour the battlefield from your easy chair or actually walking the field I hope and believe you'll find this book to be an invaluable companion

A History of the World in Twelve Maps Jerry Brotton,2012 Throughout history maps have shaped our view of the world and our place in it In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton argues that far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably partial and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power authority and creativity of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age The book examines the significance of twelve world maps drawn from global history beginning with the mystical representations of ancient history and ending with the satellite derived imagery of today It vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which the maps were made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world the Jerusalem centred Christian perspective of the fourteenth century Herefordmappamundi the earliest Korean map showing the world including Europe the first truly globalised world view of the Portuguese Diogo Ribeiro in the early sixteenth century the Peters projection of the 1970s which aimed to give equality to the third world and the earth according to Google Brotton shows how the maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by reading it we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is once more changing dramatically Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been but that they continue to recreate and mediate our view of it Readers of this book will never look at a map in quite the same way again      Index to
