French Technological Thought and the Nonhuman Turn Madeleine Chalmers,2024-12-31 French Technological Thought and the Nonhuman Turn traces a genealogy of thinking and writing about technology which takes us from the French avant gardes to the contemporary nonhuman turn in Anglo American theory via the Surrealists Gilbert Simondon and Gilles Deleuze Tracking the unruly transition from Catholic vocabularies of grace potentiality and actuality to the modern and contemporary secular lexicon of agency virtuality and affect this book explores technology as a source of subject matter and conceptual metaphors but also probes how ideas and words are modes of technicity through which we shape and reshape the world Fusing literature philosophy and theology it offers readers new contexts and questions for the egalitarian ontological commitments of contemporary post and nonhuman thinking

A History of Silence Alain Corbin,2018-05-29 Silence is not simply the absence of noise It is within us in the inner citadel that great writers thinkers scholars and people of faith have cultivated over the centuries It characterizes our most intimate and sacred spaces from private bedrooms to grand cathedrals those vast reservoirs of silence Philosophers and novelists have long sought solitude and inspiration in mountains and forests Yet despite the centrality of silence to some of our most intense experiences the transformations of the twentieth century have gradually diminished its value Today raucous urban spaces and a continual bombardment from different media pressure us into constant activity We are losing a sense of our inner selves a process that is changing the very nature of the individual This book rediscovers the wonder of silence and with this a richer experience of life With his predilection for the elusive Corbin calls us to listen to another history

Pleromatica, or Elsinore's Trance Gabriel Catren, 2026-01-06 A precise and poetic argument for the renewal of transcendental philosophy
The great poets and thinkers of modernity described a situation we still inhabit today the catastrophic undermining of all foundations the disorienting relativization of all reference points the prospect of abandonment to chance and contingency alone the shipwreck of Mallarmé's Coup de dé In this precise and poetic work of philosophy Gabriel Catren sketches out a new phenomenological solution to this momentous ungrounding defiantly refusing both unrestrained contingency and arbitrary refoundation Mobilizing a formidable knowledge of the major currents of modern thought deftly articulating Kantian transcendentalism and Spinozan immanentism phenomenological reduction and scientific realism Catren argues that the projects oriented by the infinite ideas of reason Truth Beauty Justice Love need not be abandoned in the face of the exquisite crisis of modernity Instead the shipwreck is to be understood as a suspension of finite subjectivity in the fullness of a phenomenological pleroma an atonal milieu ringing with unheard of possibilities Announcing an ambitious program for the renewal of transcendental philosophy in Pleromatica Catren recomposes the primary elements of modern thought into a startling new configuration introducing a vivid constellation of new concepts with which to map out and navigate the vast space of this worldless daydream
