The Beginner's Guide David C. McKay,1995 Selected Orders of the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin Public Service Commission of Wisconsin,1988 I Remember Me Josephine Ross,2011 This volume investigates mnemonic self reference effects in preschoolers referring to memory recall of stimuli as a function of the depth of mental processing It explores a series of 7 experiments exploring the role of self in 3 and 4 year olds event memory This effect is thought to be based on the organizational properties of a highly elaborated self concept and so offers a clear route to study the child s developing sense of self However very few studies have investigated the origin and the development of this effect New evidence is provided to suggest that preschool children like adults show a mnemonic advantage for material that has been physically linked with the self through performance of a depicted action Experiment 1 Moreover 3 and 4 year olds show a bias for material that has been visually and linguistically processed with the self image Experiments 2 3 4 and material that has been socio cognitively linked to the self in terms of ownership Experiments 5 6 7 The data imply that both bottom up kinesthetic feedback self concept and top down attention aspects of self reflection may play a supporting role in early event memory perhaps representing a nascent form of autobiographical processing Importantly this research highlights a promising methodology for elucidating the executive role of the self in cognition Evaluation of Actions Taken, Department of Revenue, July 1999 Sales Tax Performance Audit, as of January 2001 Colorado. Office of State Auditor,2001 Relationship Processes and Resilience in Children with Incarcerated Parents Julie Poehlmann,J. M. Eddy,Patricia J. Bauer,2013-07-10 Children with incarcerated parents are at risk for a variety of problematic outcomes yet research has rarely examined protective factors or resilience processes that might mitigate such risk in this population In this volume we present findings from fi ve new studies that focus on child or family level resilience processes in children with parents currently or recently incarcerated in jail or prison In the fi rst study empathic responding is examined as a protective factor against aggressive peer relations for 210 elementary school age children of incarcerated parents The second study further examines socially aggressive behaviors with peers with a focus on teasing and bullying in a sample of 61 children of incarcerated mothers Emotion regulation is examined as a possible protective factor The third study contrasts children s placement with maternal grandmothers versus other caregivers in a sample of 138 mothers incarcerated in a medium security state prison The relation between a history of positive attachments between mothers and grandmothers and the current cocaregiving alliance are of particular interest The fourth study examines coparenting communication in depth on the basis of observations of 13 families with young children whose mothers were recently released from jail Finally in the fifth study the proximal impacts of a parent management training intervention on individual functioning and family relationships are investigated in a diverse sample of 359 imprisoned mothers and fathers Taken together these studies further our understanding of resilience processes in children of incarcerated parents and their families and set the groundwork for further research on child development and family resilience within the context of parental involvement in the criminal justice system
