The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, Mick Atha, 2013-02-15 Landscape is a vital synergistic concept which opens up ways of thinking about many of the problems which beset our contemporary world such as climate change social alienation environmental degradation loss of biodiversity and destruction of heritage As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries Indeed many academic disciplines have found the concept so important it has been used as a qualifier that delineates whole sub disciplines landscape ecology landscape planning landscape archaeology and so forth In other cases landscape studies progress under a broader banner such as heritage studies or cultural geography Yet it does not always mean the same thing in all of these contexts The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies offers the first comprehensive attempt to explore research directions into the many uses and meanings of landscape The Companion contains thirty nine original contributions from leading scholars within the field which have been divided into four parts Experiencing Landscape Landscape Culture and Heritage Landscape Society and Justice and Design and Planning for Landscape Topics covered range from phenomenological approaches to landscape to the consideration of landscape as a repository of human culture from ideas of identity and belonging to issues of power and hegemony and from discussions of participatory planning and design to the call for new imaginaries in a time of global and environmental crisis Each contribution explores the future development of different conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as recent empirical contributions to knowledge and understanding Collectively they encourage dialogue across disciplinary barriers and reflection upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape This Companion provides up to date critical reviews of state of the art perspectives across this multifaceted field embracing disciplines such as anthropology archaeology cultural studies geography landscape planning landscape architecture countryside management forestry heritage studies ecology and fine art It serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike engaging in the field of landscape studies Food and the Literary Imagination J. Archer, R. Marggraf Turley, H. Thomas, 2014-11-18 Food and the Literary Imagination explores ways in which the food chain and anxieties about its corruption and disruption are represented in poetry theatre and the novel The book relates its findings to contemporary concerns about food security The New Nature Writing Jos Smith, 2017-05-04 In the last decade the proliferation and popularity of landscape writing in Britain and Ireland often referred to as the new nature writing has unearthed an intricate labyrinth of horizons to contemporary writing about place The New Nature Writing Rethinking Place in Contemporary Literature offers the first critical study of the genre Drawing on original interviews with authors archival research and the latest scholarly work in the fields of literary geographies critical localism and archipelagic criticism the book covers the work of such writers as Robert MacFarlane Richard Mabey and Alice Oswald Examining the ways in which these writers have engaged with a wide range of different environments from the edgelands to island spaces Jos Smith reveals how they recreate a resourceful and dynamic sense of localism in rebellion against the homogenising growth of clone town Britain

Fuel Heidi C. M. Scott, 2018-07-12 Fuel An Ecocritical History is the first book to chart our changing attitudes to fuel and energy through the literature and culture of the modern era focusing on the 18th century to the present Reading a wide range of writers from Blake Austen and Dickens to Upton Sinclair and Edward Abbey Heidi Scott explores how our move from a pre industrial reliance on biomass and elemental energy sources to our current dependence on the fossil fuels of coal oil and natural gas have fundamentally shaped human identity and culture The book s Anthropocene perspective reshapes our view of energy history and climate change and Fuel looks forward to ways in which we can reimagine our culture away from the fossil fuel paradigm towards a more sustainable energy future driven by renewable elemental energy
