Media Fortunes Changing Times Asean States In Transition:

Media Fortunes, Changing Times Russell Hiang-Khng Heng,2003-08-01 This book examines how media have brought about or paced dramatic political events in Southeast Asia over the last two decades It highlights a situation where media dynamics are no longer a simple formula of state control versus media resistance The state can propel its own media liberalizing programme civil society can be an enemy of press freedom market forces and cultural mindsets are sometimes more potent agents of change than state appointed media custodians Practitioners scholars and activists have come together in this volume to provide a diversity of narratives on subjects as varied as powerful politicians and marginalized transsexuals

Encyclopedia of Social Movement Media John D. H. Downing,John Derek Hall Downing,2011 The entries are designed to be relatively brief with clear accessible and current information

Language, Nation and Development in Southeast Asia Lee Hock Guan,2003-08-01 Language policies in Southeast Asia have been shaped by the process of nation building on the one hand and by political and economic considerations on the other The early years of nation building in Southeast Asia generated intensive language conflicts precisely because state policies privileged the idea of a monolingual nation and thus endeavoured to co opt or even do away with troublesome ethnic identities In recent years language policies are increasingly influenced by pragmatic considerations especially globalization and the awareness of a linkage between language and economic development such that Southeast Asian states in varying degrees have become less insistent on promoting monolingual nationalism This book evaluates the successes and drawbacks of language policies in Indonesia Malaysia Singapore the Philippines Thailand Vietnam and Myanmar especially the ways in which these policies have often been resisted or contested It is an invaluable primer on this linguistically complex region and a resource for scholars policy makers civil society activists and NGOs in various parts of the world facing equally challenging ethnic language issues

Rules, Norms and NGO Advocacy Strategies Yumiko Yasuda,2015-09-16 There is much controversy over the development of new dams for hydropower where concerns for environmental protection and the livelihoods of local people may conflict with the goals of economic development This book analyses the opportunities and barriers that NGOs and civil society actors face when conducting advocacy campaigns against such developments Through a comparison of two NGO coalitions in Cambodia and Vietnam advocating against the Xayaburi hydropower dam on the Mekong River the book explores the intricate interactions of formal and informal rules and norms and how they influence advocacy strategies A framework for analysis is proposed which serves as a tool for analysis by civil society actors The author generates fresh insights into the way in which opportunities and barriers are created for NGOs to influence state centric decision making processes The book also discusses Mekong riparian states negotiation process over the Xayaburi hydropower dam in detail providing an analysis of the Mekong River's governance under the 1995 Mekong Agreement The book concludes by suggesting ways to improve the engagement of civil society actors in the governance of transboundary rivers and development projects

New Media Political Engagement And Participation in Malaysia Sara Chinnasamy,2017-09-28 This book analyses the exponential growth of independent news portal INPs in Malaysia and discusses the extent of impacts generated from these portals in Malaysian electoral conduct especially during Malaysia s 12th and 13th general elections The mainstream media in Malaysia has for decades been controlled by strict laws such as the Printing Presses and Publications Act PPPA and the Sedition Act as well as self censorship by print and broadcast journalists and editors The rise of INP in Malaysia has challenged this government stranglehold as well as making information available much faster than the mainstream media The undeniable speed of the news posted on INP which often come with interactive contents are seen to have caused a remarkable increment on public's options with regards to expressing their political views. Some of the INPs have also impressively taken up a notch by providing live streaming videos or interesting online visual news which indirectly unifies various sectors of pressure groups in providing options of circulating and disseminating information to the public. The interviews conducted for this book provide deeper insights from those producing news and at the same time provide a specific and thorough observation on political events including representatives of the Malaysian middle class, Opposition parties, youth and university students, NGOs and civil society movements. Chinnasamy investigates key questions relating to this shift in relation to media preference concerning on the mainstream and political landscape in Malaysia. Did the INP evolve new democratic movement in the country or induce a change in the way the government retains its power by increasing people's active engagement in political participation? Did any revolution in government managed media landscape occur drastically? If so, how did they accomplish these changes? This book will fill the gap of existing research on how far have the INP empowered themselves to be the third force in fighting democratic movement in the country and how the ruling government continues seeing it as a contention as foreseen by many experts in the industry. Asian Journal of Social Science, 2005. Media Asia, 2006. Annual Report Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 2002.

The 2nd ASEAN Reader Sharon Siddique, Sree Kumar, 2003. The Second ASEAN Reader is a sequel to the first ASEAN Reader published by ISEAS in 1992. Some of the classic readings from the original ASEAN Reader have been incorporated into this new compilation but the majority of the readings cover the events from 1993 to 2003. During this decade ASEAN as an organization was revamped and its membership increased from six to ten. ASEAN has had to carve a niche in the proliferation of regional associations and bilateral relationships which mark the accelerating era of globalization. The economic pivot point for the decade was certainly the 1997 Asian crisis while the war on terrorism has had a ripple effect on intra ASEAN co-operation. ASEAN's resilience and ability to adapt has allowed the organization to navigate on a steady course into the 21st century.

The Community of Asia Urvashi Butalia, Kokusai Kōryū Kikin, 2006 La quatrième de couverture indique The essays in this book address the multi-layered and trans-disciplinary agenda faced by us today while re-examining the identity of Asia as a hybrid entity with diverse and pluralistic values from both a conceptual and practical standpoint. The hope is that the growing solidarity of Asian public intellectuals will lay the foundation for the future of Asia's regional unity in diversity. This book poses fundamental questions on the validity of constructions of Asia not only within Eurocentric and Orientalist but also within Asia and Asian discourse. Catalogue Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 2008 The Spectator, 2003
