Spent behind the Wheel Julietta Hua, Kasturi Ray, 2021-12-21

Exploring professional passenger driving and the gig economy through feminist theories of labor. Are taxi drivers in today's era of the ride hail app performing care work akin to domestic and household labor? So argue the authors of Spent behind the Wheel. Bringing together sociological and legal perspectives with feminist theoretical insights, Julietta Hua and Kasturi Ray examine the case study of contemporary professional passenger driving in the United States. On the one hand, they show the rise of the gig economy has brought new attention to the industry of professional passenger driving. On the other hand, the vulnerabilities that professional drivers experience remain hidden. Drawing on interviews with drivers, labor organizers and members of licensing commissions as well as case law and other published resources, Hua and Ray argue that working for ride hail companies like Uber and Lyft shares similarities with driving for taxi companies in the impact on driver lives. Lyft and Uber sell the idea of industry disruption, but in fact, they entrench long standing modes of extracting the reproductive labor of their drivers for the benefit of consumer lives. Reproductive labor, conventionally understood as feminized labor, is extracted but masked behind the masculinized, racialized bodies of drivers. Professional driving is thus best understood alongside domestic and other gendered service work as reproductive labors devalued and often demonetized to benefit the national economy Spent behind the Wheel is a must for readers interested in critical studies of technological change and the gig economy showing how drivers capacities are drained for the benefit of riders corporations and the maintenance of the racial state Raising a Nation Elliot Haspel,2025 Thanks to a history of neglect child care in America is expensive scarce and of questionable quality Yet too often the response is not a push for governmental action but a derisive why should I pay for your child At best our leaders make the case for child care on bloodless economic grounds we need a place to put the kids so parents can work The problem I believe is that we skipped a step a step so fundamental that it has torpedoed the chances of winning an effective child care system despite decade after decade of pain that crosses geographic and ideological borders We have never established that good child care belongs among the pantheon of American values Because of what it means for the nation that is exactly where child care belongs Raising A Nation offers a new framework for thinking about a comprehensive inclusive child care system one that supports families in all their diversity whether they want to utilize a licensed child care program family member or have a parent be the primary child care provider I posit 10 distinct yet interlinking cases for why every American whatever their political affiliation and whether or not they have young children or any children at all has skin in the game when it comes to the country s child care system This groundbreaking book opens up conversations that can finally push child care from being seen as a private responsibility to being seen as an essential part of the American social fabric Provided by publisher
