Act Practice Lyft Update:

A New American Labor Movement William E. Scheuerman,2021-10-01 The American labor movement isn't dead. It's just moving from the bargaining table to the streets. In A New American Labor Movement William Scheuerman analyzes how the decline of unions and the emergence of these new direct action movements are reshaping the American labor movement. Tens of thousands of exploited workers from farm laborers and gig drivers to freelance artists and restaurant workers have taken to the streets in a collective attempt to attain a living wage and decent working conditions with or without the help of unions. This new worker militancy expressed through mass demonstrations, strikes, sit-ins, political action, and similar activities has already achieved much success and offers models for workers to exercise their power in the twenty-first century. Finally, Scheuerman notes many of the strategies of the new direct action groups share features with the sectoral bargaining model that dominates the European labor movement, suggesting that sectoral bargaining may become the foundation of a new American labor movement.

Resource Efficiency and Climate Change United Nations Environment Programme. International Resource Panel,2021-01-12 The International Resource Panel (IRP)

was established to provide independent coherent and authoritative scientific assessments on the use of natural resources and their environmental impacts over the full life cycle. The Panel aims to contribute to a better understanding of how to decouple economic growth from environmental degradation while enhancing well being. The Secretariat is hosted by the United Nations Environment Programme. IRP assessments demonstrate the opportunities for governments, businesses and wider society to work together to create and implement policies that ultimately lead to sustainable resource management including through better planning, technological innovation and strategic incentives and investments. Materials are vital to modern society but their production is an important source of greenhouse gases. Emissions from material production are now comparable to those from agriculture, forestry and land use change combined yet they have received much less attention from the climate policy community. The IPR authors propose looking beyond energy efficiency to reduce global carbon footprint. This report was developed by the IRP in response to a request from the Group of 7. It conducts a rigorous assessment of the contribution of material efficiency to GHG abatement strategies. More concretely it assesses the potential reduction of GHG emissions from material efficiency strategies applied in residential buildings and light duty vehicles and reviews policies that address these strategies. The IRP modelling results show that increasing material efficiency can help enhance efforts in moving towards the 1.5°C target set by the Paris Agreement. Page 4 of cover
