Pathogen And Microbial Contamination Management In Micropropagation Developments In Plant Pathology:

Pathogen and Microbial Contamination Management in Micropropagation Alan C. Cassells,2013-06-29 This book is based mainly on invited and offered papers presented at the Second International Symposium on Bacterial and Bacteria like Contaminants of Plant Tissue Cultures held at University College Cork Ireland in September 1996 with additional invited papers The First International Symposium on Bacterial and Bacteria like Contaminants of Plant Tissue Cultures was held at the same venue in 1987 and was published as Acta Horticulturae volume 225 1988 In the intervening years there have been considerable advances in both plant disease diagnostics and in the development of structured approaches to the management of disease and microbial contamination in micropropagation These approaches have centred on attempts to separate spatially the problems of disease transmission and laboratory contamination Disease control is best achieved by establishing pathogen free cultures while laboratory contamination is based on subsequent good working practice Control of losses due to pathogens and microbial contamination in vitro addresses arguably the most importance causes of losses in the industry nevertheless losses at and post establishment can also be considerable due to poor quality microplants or micro shoots In this symposium a holistic approach to pathogen and microbial contamination control is evident with the recognition that micropropagators must address pathogen and microbial contamination in vitro and diseases and microplant failure at establishment There is increasing interest in establishing beneficial bacterial and mycorrhizal association with microplants in vitro and in vivo

Somatic Embryogenesis in Woody Plants S.M. Jain,Pramod P.K. Gupta,R.J. Newton,2012-12-06 The quality of human life has been maintained and enhanced for generations by the use of trees and their products In recent years ever rising human population growth has put a tremendous pressure on trees and tree products growing awareness of the potential of previously unexploited tree resources and environmental pollution have both accelerated the development of new technologies for tree propagation breeding and improvement Biotechnology of trees may be the answer to solve the problems which can not be solved by conventional breeding methods The combination of biotechnology and conventional methods such as plant propagation and breeding could become a novel approach to improving and multiplying a large number of the trees and woody plants So far plant tissue culture technology has largely been exploited by commercial companies in propagation of ornamentals especially foliage house plants Generally tissue culture of woody plants has been recalcitrant However limited success has been achieved in tissue culture of angiosperm and gymnosperm woody plants A number of recent reports on somatic embryogenesis in woody plants such as Norway spruce Picea abies Loblolly pine Pinus taeda Sandalwood Santalum
