New Traditions In Terror:

New Traditions in Terror ,2001 Combating a Modern Hydra: Al Qaeda and the Global War on Terrorism ,2005

Combating a Modern Hydra Al Qaeda and the Global War on Terrorism is number eight in the Combat Studies Institute's Global War on Terrorism GWOT Occasional Paper series. This work resulted from discussions at Fort Leavenworth about the nature of the enemy facing the United States and its allies since 11 September 2001. Osama bin Laden and his terrorist network had been present at some level in the national and international consciousness since the late 1990s. The events of 11 September 2001 and subsequent global operations taken against Al Qaeda have brought this group to the forefront of the GWOT. While successes have been achieved in the GWOT, the enemy has proven to be resilient and adaptive. This study by Mr. Sean Kalic of the Department of Military History US Army Command and General Staff College examines modern transnational terrorism from the 1960s to the present day with special emphasis on the adaptation Al Qaeda and other nonstate actors have taken in response to the actions of the United States and its allies. This work provides a cautionary warning about the likelihood Al Qaeda will continue to survive and execute missions in the current operating environment. Mr. Kalic synthesizes much of the pertinent literature and offers insights into the actions taken to fight terrorists. Most importantly, he advises a continual reevaluation of the threat based on Al Qaeda's flexibility, resiliency, and adaptability. Officers and soldiers who have recently served in operations against the terrorist worldwide will certainly see utility here. As the US Army continues its efforts in combating terrorists, the thoughts found in this narrative are well worth considering.

Terrorist's Creed R. Griffin, 2012-09-19. Terrorist's Creed casts a penetrating beam of empathetic understanding into the disturbing and murky psychological world of fanatical violence, explaining how the fanaticism it demands stems from the profoundly human need to imbue existence with meaning and transcendence.

The Moral Dilemmas of Fighting Terrorism and Guerrilla Groups Jean-François Caron, 2023-01-30. The Moral Dilemmas of Fighting Terrorism and Guerrilla Groups discusses the most important ethical dilemmas associated with the fight against terrorist organizations and guerrilla groups by providing readers with a rigorous yet accessible analysis of how these forms of violence can be justified and how they ought to be fought by entities targeted by groups resorting to these strategies. It will be valuable to anyone interested in understanding the main ethical questions associated with these forms of political violence and the way they can be addressed. After providing conceptual clarifications that will allow the reader to distinguish between terrorism and guerrilla warfare, it explains and discusses what the criteria are that can justify resorting to lethal violence on the part of the latter group as well as the criteria that can determine the identity of those who can legitimately be targeted by these groups. The book analyzes when terrorists ought to be targeted and how this can be done, focusing on the inherent problems associated with the solutions that are normally used against state actors in order to prevent attacks on their part, namely what can be coined as non-violent alternatives to war such as economic or diplomatic sanctions, arm embargoes and non-violent resistance and on the other partly correct Terror groups are primarily transnational and non hierarchical and lethality is higher than in the early 90s although less so in Western Europe Separatist groups are however found to be the most common type of movement followed by ideological movements responsible for 4 and 2 times as many terror attacks as religious groups Likewise the potential threat of terrorists using CBRN weapons for mass destruction is found to be incorrect Based on this New Terrorism 2 0 Europe edition is proposed Stating that separatist and ideological groups are the most common lethality is high but less so in Western Europe organizations are primarily transnational and non hierarchical and the risk of terrorist using CBRN weapons is low in contemporary European terrorism Muslims, West, and the War Against Terrorism S.
