Living Stations Manuela

Triggianese, Olindo Caso, Yagiz Söylev, 2021-02-04 Due to the growing demand for mobility as a primary need for people to get to work to obtain personal care or to go travelling cities continue to be faced with new urban challenges Stations represent along mobility networks not only transportation nodes transfer points but also architectural objects which connect an area to the city's territorial plane and which have the potential to generate new urban dynamics In the compact city the station is simply no longer the space to access mobility networks as informed by their dry pragmatism but becomes an urban place of sociality and encounter an extended public space beyond mobility itself Which relationships and cross fertilizations can be significant for the design of the future living stations in the Municipality of Rotterdam How ought these stations to be conceived in order to act as public places for collective action Which archetypical devices can be designed to give a shape to the ambitions for these stations The station as a public space and catalyzer for urban interventions in the metropolitan area of Rotterdam is the focus of the research initiative presented in this publication City of Innovations Project Living Stations is organized around speculating and forecasting on future scenarios for the city of Rotterdam What is the future of Rotterdam with the arrival of a new metro circle line system In the past fifty years every decade of Rotterdam urban planning has seen its complementary metro strategy with profound connections with the spatial planning and architectural themes Considering the urban trends of densification and the new move to the city a new complementary strategy is required The plans to realize 50 000 new homes between the city center and the suburban residential districts in the next 20 years go together with the development of a new metro circle line consisting of 16 new stations 6 of which will connect the new metro line to the

Comparison Christian Schmid,Monika Streule,2023-10-04 Cartography as an instrument for the analysis of urbanisation processes The speed scale and scope of urbanisation have increased dramatically in recent decades To decipher the rapidly changing urban territories across the planet we need a radical shift in the analytical perspective on urbanisation In this book a transdisciplinary international research team presents an expanded vocabulary of urbanisation processes through a comparison of Tokyo Hong Kong Shenzhen Dongguan Kolkata Istanbul Lagos Paris Mexico City and Los Angeles Based on a novel cartography and on detailed ethnographic and historical explorations this book systematically analyses the diversity of responses to urgent contemporary urban challenges It proposes a series of new concepts that allow us to assess the practical consequences of different urban strategies in everyday life Essential book on urbanism New evaluation models for urbanisation processes Comprehensive analyses and illustrations of the urban patterns of international metropolises

Comparison of urbanisation processes in eight metropolises around the world Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility Un-Habitat,2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world s leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security

Civil Defense Implications of Current and Future Urban Configurations Henry L. Woltman,E. C. Goodrow,1963 This report examines the possibilities of vulnerability reduction through long term changes in urban form and structure in the light of projected trends in economic and social forces affecting future urban development Urban decentralization is likely to continue in the future and technological change may permit acceleration of this trend toward sprawling urban regions Various conceptual and empirical urban forms are reducible to a few basic types The vulnerability characteristics of the different forms are mixed but the galaxy and dispersed sheet forms are generally best suited to civil defense purposes These are similar to the forms that future urban regions are expected to take A variant of the dispersed sheet form is considered the most advantageous it would provide compact urban communities separated by extensive open spaces devoted to nonurban land uses within future metropolitan areas In addition efforts to increase the hardness of urban structures are desirable An increased proportion of high hardness structural types should be encouraged in the building mix This increase should take the form mainly of high hardness residential structures dispersed singly or in clusters throughout residential areas Indirect methods are considered by which progress toward these objectives might be assisted through various on going Federal and state governmental activities Author     The SAGE Handbook of the 21st Century City
