New Scientist ,1982    Pushing Past the Human in Latin American Cinema Carolyn Fornoff, Gisela Heffes, 2021-06-01 Pushing Past the Human in Latin American Cinema brings together fourteen scholars to analyze Latin American cinema in dialogue with recent theories of posthumanism and ecocriticism. Together they grapple with how Latin American filmmakers have attempted to push past the human and destabilize the myth of anthropocentric exceptionalism that has historically been privileged by cinema and has led to the current climate crisis. While some chapters question the very nature of this enterprise whether cinema should or even could actualize such a maneuver beyond the human others signal the ways in which the category of the human itself is interrogated by Latin American cinema revealed to be a fiction that excludes more than it unifies. This volume explores how the moving image reinforces or contests the division between human and nonhuman and troubles the settler epistemic partition of culture and nature that is at the core of the climate crisis. As the first volume to specifically address how such questions are staged by Latin American cinema this book brings together analysis of films that respond to environmental degradation as well as those that articulate a posthumanist ethos that blurs the line between species    Agrindex ,1995    Horticultural Abstracts ,1993    Respawn Colin

Weather, soil, and animals are important to a plant's survival. But do you know what happens to a plant when the seasons change? Or how earthworms help a plant's roots? Let's experiment to find out!
