The chapters presented have benefitted from theories such as multimodal social semiotics, systemic functional multimodal discourse analysis, computer assisted discourse analysis, multimodal critical discourse analysis, cognitive approaches and conceptual metaphor. The book highlights the affordances of a multimodal approach in illuminating how texts and illustrations do joint semiotic work to encourage young readers' understanding of the difficulties faced by young migrants and thus help young migrants make sense of new languages and settings. The volume foregrounds the importance of critical perspectives in analysing visual narratives of migration in children's picture books, examining both successful and less successful examples of this joint semiotic work at play and in turn suggestions for improvements for the future. The book makes the case for multimodal perspectives on migration in children's picture books toward promoting equality, diversity and social acceptance of young migrants and the integration of migration issues in early childhood education. This volume will be of interest to students and scholars in multimodality, discourse analysis, social semiotics, children's literature and early childhood education Integrating Reading and Writing Through Children's Literature Kathy Everts, Danielson, Jan LaBonty, 1994 Grade level 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 t

Theorising Oliver Jeffers' Picturebooks Jade Dillon-Craig, 2025-10-16 Theorising Oliver Jeffers' Picturebooks From How to Catch a Star to Now examines semiotic, affective and metafictive storytelling in Oliver Jeffers' postmodern picturebooks from a multi-theoretical approach. This volume provides fresh insight into Jeffers' iconotextual narratives through textual and visual analysis, exploring how his multimodal texts construct childhood and evoke emotional resonances. The book deconstructs the postmodernity of these narratives, highlighting Jeffers' contemporary methods of storytelling through an exploration of the texts' metafictive and self-reflective elements. From How to Catch a Star (2004) to Where to Hide a Star (2024), this book journeys through the mindscapes of Jeffers' design and analyses the nuances of metafictive storytelling from a postmodern perspective. Elementary Children's Literature Nancy A. challenge and critique language and social practices and actively transform what they see as unjust or unfair. Crucial critical literacy concepts such as access power reconstruction and transformation are explored in respect of both the wider literature and as they relate to the experiences and practices of those educators who feature in the book. The key practice areas for developing children's criticality are also covered including the use of toys children's literature comic books and graphic novels photographs and new technologies. Threaded throughout the book are the intersecting social justice issues of gender race disability displacement and social class. Material is drawn primarily from educators own narratives about transformative change in their practice including their struggles to understand and enact critical literacy alongside examples of their pedagogies for social change. The author identifies a number of clear directions for educators interested in using a critical pedagogical approach in their work with children and young people helping them to understand what critical literacy is how they can weave it into their own practices with which ages stages and grades critical literacy can be used and how they can get started using critical literacy in their classrooms.
