The essays provide insight into a wide range of topics including religious use of media, religious identity, audience gratification, religious broadcasting, religious content in entertainment films and religion news reporting about religion, race and gender, the sex religion matrix, religious crisis communication, public relations and advertising, televangelism, pastoral ministry, death and the media, online religion, future directions in religious communication and more. Explores the increasing role of media in creating religious identity and communicating religious experience. Movie Minorities Hye Seung Chung, David Scott Diffrient, 2021-08-13 Rights advocacy has become a prominent facet of South Korea's increasingly transnational motion picture output especially following the 1998 presidential inauguration of Kim Dae-jung, a former political prisoner and victim of human rights abuses who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 2000. Today it is not unusual to see a big budget production about the pursuit of social justice or the protection of civil liberties contending for the top spot at the box office. With that cultural shift has come a diversification of film subjects which range from undocumented workers' rights to the sexual harassment experienced by women to high school bullying to the struggles among people with disabilities to gain inclusion within a society that has transformed significantly since winning democratic freedoms three decades ago. Combining in-depth textual analyses of films such as Bleak Night, Okja,
