Visual Diagnosis and Care of the Patient with Special Needs Taub, Mary Bartuccio, Dominick M. Maino, 2012 Visual Diagnosis and Care of the Patient with Special Needs provides a thorough review of the eye and vision care needs of patients with special needs. This book gives you a better understanding of the most frequently encountered developmental and acquired disabilities seen in the eye care practitioner's office. These disabilities include patients with autism, brain injury, Fragile X syndrome, and Down syndrome, as well as those with psychiatric illness, dual diagnosis, and more. The text discusses in great detail the visual issues inherent in these populations and their possible treatment. A group of authors with approximately 500 years of experience in the field of eye care and special populations have been brought together to develop this comprehensive reference. It may appear that this book is written primarily for eye care practitioners such as optometrists and ophthalmologists, while vision is the overriding topic, this book serves as an excellent resource for a multitude of professions including those engaged in occupational therapy, physical therapy, speech and language therapy, psychiatry, social work, pediatric medicine, and special education.

Practicing Communication Ethics Paula S. Tompkins, 2023-05-02 This textbook presents a theoretical framework for developing a personal standard of ethics that can be applied in everyday communication situations. This third edition focuses on how the reader's communication matters ethically in co-creating their relationships, family, workgroups, and communities. Through an examination of ethical values including truth, justice, freedom, care, integrity, and honor, the reader can determine which values they are ethically committed to upholding. Blending communication theory, ethics as practical philosophy, and moral psychology, the text presents the practice of communication ethics as part of the lifelong process of personal development and fosters the ability in its readers to approach communication decision making through an ethical lens. This edition features new and expanded treatment of moral injury and trauma, digital communication, partisan political division, and issues related to the COVID 19 pandemic. Practicing Communication Ethics is a core textbook for communication ethics and media ethics courses. Online resources for instructors include an instructor's manual, sample assignments, and PowerPoint slides. They are available at www.routledge.com/9781032288987

Scientists, Experts, and Civic Engagement Amy E. Lesen, 2016-04-01 How do scientists, scholars, and other experts engage with the general public and with the communities affected by their work or residing in their sites of study? Where are the fine lines between public scholarship, civic engagement, and activism? Must academics give back once they collect data and publish results? In this volume, authors from a wide range of disciplines examine these relationships to assess how they can be fruitful or challenging. Describing the methodological and ethical issues that experts must consider when carrying out public scholarship, this book includes a checklist for critical factors of success in engagement and an examination of the role of digital social media in science communication Illustrated by a range of case studies addressing environmental issues climate change resource use post disaster policy and education it offers an investigation into the levels and ways in which scholars can engage and how and whether academics and experts who engage in community work and public scholarship are acknowledged and rewarded for doing so by their institutions Also bringing into the debate the perspective of citizens who have collaborated with academics the book offers an exploration of the democratizing potential of participatory action research
