What Work Means Claudia Strauss, 2024-06-15 What Work Means goes beyond the stereotypes and captures the diverse ways Americans view work as a part of a good life Dispelling the notion of Americans as obsessive workaholics Claudia Strauss presents a more nuanced perspective While some live to work others prefer a diligent 9 to 5 work ethic that is conscientious but preserves time for other interests Her participants often enjoyed their jobs without making work the focus of their life These findings challenge laborist views of waged work as central to a good life as well as post work theories that treat work solely as exploitative and soul crushing Drawing upon the evocative stories of unemployed Americans from a wide range of occupations from day laborers to corporate managers both immigrant and native born Strauss explores how diverse Americans think about the place of work in a good life gendered meanings of breadwinning accepting financial support from family friends and the state and what the ever elusive American dream means to them By considering how unemployment experiences diverge from joblessness earlier What Work Means paves the way for a historically and culturally informed discussion of work meanings in a future of teleworking greater automation and increasing nonstandard employment

Networked Media, Networked Rhetorics Damien Smith Pfister, 2015-06-10 In Networked Media Networked Rhetorics Damien Pfister explores communicative practices in networked media environments analyzing in particular how the blogosphere has changed the conduct and coverage of public debate Pfister shows how the late modern imaginary was susceptible to deliberation traps related to invention emotion and expertise and how bloggers have played a role in helping contemporary public deliberation evade these traps Three case studies at the heart of Networked Media Networked Rhetorics show how new intermediaries including bloggers generate publicity solidarity and translation in the networked public sphere Bloggers flooding the zone in the wake of Trent Lott's controversial toast to Strom Thurmond in 2002 demonstrated their ability to invent and circulate novel arguments the pre 2003 invasion reports from the Baghdad blogger illustrated how solidarity is built through affective connections and the science blog RealClimate continues to serve as a rapid response site for the translation of expert claims for public audiences Networked Media Networked Rhetorics concludes with a bold outline for rhetorical studies after the internet

Economics Demystified: A Beginner's Guide to the Global Economy Stephen Wing, Welcome to the world of economics This book serves as your passport to understanding the fundamental principles that govern the allocation of scarce resources the dynamics of markets and the intricacies of global trade We often take for granted the complex interplay of forces that determine the price of goods the availability of jobs and the overall health of an economy But understanding these underlying principles is crucial for navigating the modern world participating effectively in public discourse and making informed decisions about our own finances and our collective future This book is designed to demystify the subject presenting core economic concepts in a clear accessible and engaging manner We will explore both microeconomics the study of individual choices and market interactions and macroeconomics

the study of the economy as a whole We will examine concepts such as supply and demand market structures inflation fiscal policy monetary policy international trade and economic growth Throughout the book we will use real world examples to illustrate abstract ideas We will explore the impacts of trade agreements analyze the effects of government interventions and examine how economic forces shape our daily lives Our goal is not just to impart knowledge but also to equip you with the critical thinking skills needed to analyze economic issues interpret data and engage in informed discussions about economic policy The journey through this book will empower you to engage confidently with the global economy enriching your understanding of current events and enhancing your ability to participate meaningfully in the ongoing economic conversations shaping our world Are you ready to embark on this exciting adventure Let s begin Say Hello Carly Findlay, 2019-02-01 A forthright honest and rousing triumphant memoir from a woman who has to live with a highly visible different appearance due to a rare skin condition Say hello to Carly In fairytales the characters who look different are often cast as the villain or monsters It s only when they shed their unconventional skin that they are seen as good or less frightening There are very few stories where the character that looks different is the hero of the story I ve been the hero of my story telling it on my own terms proud about my facial difference and disability not wanting a cure for my rare severe and sometimes confronting skin condition and knowing that I am beautiful even though I don t have beauty privilege This honest outspoken and thought provoking memoir by award winning writer and appearance activist Carly Findlay will challenge all your assumptions and beliefs about what it is like to have a visibly different appearance Carly lives with a rare skin condition Ichthyosis and what she faces every day and what she has to live with will have you cheering for her and her courage and irrepressible spirit This is both a moving memoir and a proud manifesto on disability and appearance diversity issues Believe the hype by turns frank funny and fearsome Findlay s extraordinary memoir is an early contender for 2019 s best Australian non fiction a powerful and moving invitation to examine the structures of privilege and dehumanisation that we so desperately need address in this country Better Read Than Dead A proud celebration of appearance difference a valuable read Herald Sun Defiant unsettling and thought provoking The Age Ranking Péter Érdi, 2019-09-13 Human beings are competitive We want to know who is the strongest who is the richest and who is the cleverest of all Some situations like ranking people based on height can be ranked in objective ways However many Top Ten lists are based on subjective categorization and give only the illusion of objectivity In fact we don t always want to be seen objectively since we don t mind having a better image or rank than deserved Ranking The Unwritten Rules of the Social Game We All Play applies scientific theories to everyday experience by raising and answering questions like Are college ranking lists objective How do we rank and rate countries based on their fragility level of corruption or even happiness How do we find the most relevant web pages How are employees ranked This book is for people who have a neighbor with a fancier car employees who are being ranked by their supervisors managers who are involved in ranking but may have qualms about the process business people interested in creating better visibility for their companies scientists writers artists and other competitors who would like to see themselves at the top of a success list or college students who are just preparing to enter a new phase of social competition Readers will engage in an intellectual adventure to better understand the difficulties of navigating between objectivity and subjectivity and to better identify and modify their place in real and virtual communities by combining human and computational intelligence Translation editions available in German Korean Japanese Complex Chinese and Simplified Chinese

The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning Vivien Hodgson, Maarten de Laat, David McConnell, Thomas Ryberg, 2014-01-18 The Design Experience and Practice of Networked Learning Edited by Vivien Hodgson Maarten de Laat David McConnell and Thomas Ryberg This book brings together a wealth of new research that opens up the meaning of connectivity as embodied and promised in the term networked learning Chapters explore how contexts groups and environments can be connected rather than just learners how messy unexpected and emergent connections can be made rather than structured and predefined ones and how technology connects us to learning and each other but also shapes our identity These exciting new perspectives ask us to look again at what we are connecting and to revel in new and emergent possibilities arising from the interplay of social actors contexts technologies and learning Caroline Haythornthwaite University of British Columbia Despite creating fundamentally new educational economics and greatly increasing access teaching and learning in networks is a tricky business These chapters illuminate the complex interactions amongst tools pedagogy educational institutions and personal net presences helping us design and redesign our own networks In the process they take or extract network theory from the practice of real teaching and learning contexts making this collection an important contribution to Networked Learning Terry Anderson Athabasca University What kinds of learning can social networking platforms really enable Digging well beneath the hype this book provides a timely incisive analysis of why and how learning emerges or fails to in networked spaces The editors do a fine job in guiding the reader through the rich array of theories and methods for tackling this question and the diverse contexts in which networked learning is now being studied This is a book for reflective practitioners as well as academics the book s close attention to the political pedagogical and organisational complexity of effective practice and the lived experience of educators and learners helps explain why networked learning has such disruptive potential but equally why it draws resistance from the establishment Simon Buckingham Shum The Open University The networked learning conference a biannual institution since 1998 celebrates its 14th year in this volume Here a range of studies reflecting networked learning experiments across Europe and other global contexts show important shifts away from a conservative tradition of e learning¹ research and unpeel dilemmas of promoting learning as an elusive practice in virtual environments The authors point towards important futures in online learning research where notions of knowledge connectivity and community¹ become increasingly elastic and engagements slide across material and virtual domains in new practices whose emergence is increasingly difficult to apprehend p Tara

Fenwick University of Stirling The chapters in this volume explore new and innovative ways of thinking about the nature of networked learning and its pedagogical values and beliefs They pose a challenge to us to reflect on what we thought networked learning was 15 year ago where it is today and where it is likely to be headed Each chapter brings a particular perspective to the themes of design experience and practice of networked learning the chosen focus of the book The chapters in the book embrace a wide field of educational areas including those of higher education informal learning work based learning continuing professional development academic staff development and management learning The Design Experience and Practice of Networked Learning will prove indispensable reading for researchers teachers consultants and instructional designers in higher and continuing education for those involved in staff and educational development and for those studying post graduate qualifications in learning and teaching This the second volume in the Springer Book Series on Researching Networked Learning is based on a selection of papers presented at the 2012 Networked Learning Conference held in Maastricht The Netherlands
