NOAA Diving Manual United States. Office of Ocean Engineering, 1979 Handbook of Cognitive Science Paco Calvo, Antoni Gomila, 2008-08-15 The Handbook of Cognitive Science provides an overview of recent developments in cognition research relying upon non classical approaches. Cognition is explained as the continuous interplay between brain, body and environment without relying on classical notions of computations and representation to explain cognition. The handbook serves as a valuable companion for readers interested in foundational aspects of cognitive science and neuroscience and the philosophy of mind. The handbook begins with an introduction to embodied cognitive science and then breaks up the chapters into separate sections on conceptual issues, formal approaches, embodiment in perception and action, embodiment from an artificial perspective, embodied meaning and emotion, and consciousness. Contributors to the book represent research overviews from around the globe including the US, UK, Spain, Germany, Switzerland, France, Sweden and the Netherlands. NOAA Diving Manual, 2001 NOAA Diving Manual NOAA Diving Program (U.S.), 2001

Mastering Rebreathers, 2nd Edition Jeffrey Bozman, 2012-08-01 This fully revised second edition of Jeff Bozman's Mastering Rebreathers is a comprehensive new look at rebreathers written for the diving industry. Its chapters cover all types of rebreathers currently available, the history, physics, physiology, and theory of rebreather diving, pre-dive, dive, and post-dive procedures, and maintenance and travel considerations. It is designed for use as a generic textbook for all agencies and rebreathers. Mastering Rebreathers Second Edition is the perfect tool for those who would like to experience the thrill and excitement of expanding their diving skills and reinvigorating their passion for diving. In well-trained and well-informed hands, a rebreather will not only enhance the capabilities and enjoyment of diving but will increase safety as well. Whether you are new to rebreathers and are using this book as part of a formal training course, if you've been diving with rebreathers for years and have bought this book to add to your library, or even if you are just curious to learn more about this exciting form of underwater life support, you will find enormous value in the meticulously updated Mastering Rebreathers.

Geothermal Heat Flux at the COST B-2 and B-3 Wells, U. S. Atlantic Continental Margin B. Della Vedova, 1987 Heat flow estimates at two sites on the U.S. Atlantic continental margin are presented. An estimate of the heat flowing from the basement also has been obtained. About 4.8 km of sediments penetrated at the COST B-2 and 4.0 km at the COST B-3 were deposited since the Upper Jurassic. Well logs were used to evaluate thermal gradients and sedimentation rates, whereas thermal conductivities and radiogenic heat productions were measured on drill cuttings samples. A procedure to estimate in-situ thermal conductivity from drill cuttings and well logs is described. A substantial set of samples in the form of drill cuttings were sorted in four major lithologies: sandstones, siltstones, shales, and limestones. Laboratory measurements of density, porosity, thermal conductivity, quartz %, potassium %, uranium ppm, and thorium ppm were performed on 128 reorganized and pulverized samples. A significant correlation of the matrix thermal conductivity to quartz and potassium content was found In situ porosity and volume fraction of each lithology determined mainly from well logs were used to calculate in situ mean thermal conductivity Finally the mean in situ vertical component of the thermal conductivity as required for heat flow values has been estimated from a correction factor for the anisotropy of each lithology The in situ temperature and anisotropy effects substantially decrease estimates of thermal conductivity at depth Below the uppermost 1 km in both wells the best estimate of the thermal gradient is 26.3°C/km 1 at COST B 2 and 26.1°C/km 1 at COST B 3 whereas in situ mean thermal conductivities range between about 1.8 and 1.9 W/m 1 K 1.4–3.4–5 T C U The average heat flow is estimated as about 45 mW/m 2 1.07 H F U at COST B 2 and 44 mW/m 2 1.06 H F U at COST B 3 with an uncertainty of about 20–25% The mean radiogenic production in sediments at the two sites has been estimated as 1.83 COST B 2 and 1.44 COST B 3 10.6 Wm 3 With a 12–14 km thick sedimentary sequence a radioactive contribution of 20–25 mW/m 2 can be expected The effects of sediment deposition compaction pore water advection and radiogenic heat production have been combined in a numerical model Hutchison 1985 to estimate the undisturbed basement heat flux Although the sedimentation depresses the basement heat flux by 15–20% this effect is more than compensated by radioactive heat production in the sediments so that the surface flux is estimated to be higher than that from the basement The latter is calculated at about 33.39 mW/m 2 0.809 H F U a relatively low value The overall uncertainty is about 20–25% and other estimates on continental margins with thick sediments e.g. Reiter and Jessop 1985 probably have at least a similar uncertainty and diver safety are specialized subject areas not generally well represented in even the largest of academic libraries largely because of difficulties in locating appropriate items to include in the collection. However in order to adequately fulfill his/her responsibilities the Diving Safety Officer of a scientific diving program needs easy access to a broad range of books, reports and journals covering all aspects of diving. This bibliography outlines a comprehensive collection appropriate to the needs of a scientific diving program in a research or academic institution. Items are grouped in broad subject areas corresponding to various aspects of the diving program. Both title and author indexes are also included.
