1990-1991 and 1992-1993. A significant relationship is also evident for the 1993-1994 season. A 10% increase in the number of cases is observed for each 1% increase in the number of cases reported in the previous season. However, the relationship is not significant for the 1994-1995 season. The results suggest that the number of cases reported in the previous season is a significant determinant of the number of cases reported in the current season.

There are many individuals in government who are concerned about the state of the environment and, indeed, many citizens who have become concerned for the same reasons. We are beginning to realize in Canada that there is a growing concern for the environment. This concern is reflected in the fact that the government has established the Department of the Environment and the Canadian Council of Ministers of the Environment. It is also reflected in the fact that the public is becoming more and more concerned about the environment. This concern is reflected in the fact that the public is becoming more and more concerned about the environment. This concern is reflected in the fact that the public is becoming more and more concerned about the environment.

University is substantially less than the cost of a degree program. Again, it is not clear if the focus on the curriculum, the degree value, including that a degree is earned in the business community is being more valued and not considered as just a job, and that the business and industry should consider the university
