Magee,Stacey A. Missmer,Jayashri Kulkarni,Vassiliki Benetou,Marianne Vidler,Chelsea Morroni,2023-02-07 As a result of the Coronavirus disease COVID 19 pandemic the world is facing one of the greatest challenges we have experienced in over a century The economic consequences for society at large are potentially catastrophic The health and social care sectors have reacted by providing emergency care on an unprecedented scale while the scientific community has focused on developing new treatments and a vaccine to prevent future waves of the pandemic Evidence is emerging to suggest that certain conditions such as obesity and hypertension predispose some individuals to a worse outcome if they become infected and that women may be less likely to die from COVID 19 than men It is also currently believed that pregnant women are at no greater risk than the general population There is an urgent need to determine whether these early observations are correct Furthermore we need to be sure that pregnancy outcomes are not affected by COVID 19 and that SARS CoV 2 is not transmitted to the fetus during pregnancy or labour nor to the infant through breast milk There are so many questions that need to be answered to optimise care avoid harm reduce anxiety amongst women and their families and inform health professionals and policymakers We also need to understand the unintended consequences of the global lockdown on women s health in general For example have rates of domestic violence risen to what extent has women s mental health been affected and have women successfully adapted or devised new coping mechanisms have women been denied access to gynaecological treatments during the lockdown including safe abortion and if so with what impact on their health and wellbeing has the female work force suffered disproportionately in economic terms have national and international recommendations and policies been sufficiently gender neutral have breastfeeding rates been adversely affected will COVID 19 make attainment of the UN SDGs more difficult etc In keeping with the Scope Mission of Frontiers in Global Women s Health this Research Topic aims to provide a multi disciplinary platform to answer important COVID 19 related questions that specifically impact upon women s health and wellbeing particular in resource poor settings The Topic Editors welcome a broad range of contributions including Original Research Reviews Commentaries Study Protocols and Systematic Reviews We would like to acknowledge Dr Nathalie MacDermott and Dr Rhiannon George Carey who have acted as coordinators and have contributed to the preparation of the proposal for this Research Topic Given the exceptional nature of the COVID 19 situation Frontiers is waiving all article publishing charges for COVID 19 related research in this Research Topic Please note that manuscripts must be submitted by the deadline of December 31st      Women and Gender Janice D. Yoder,1999 Well grounded in research this accessible book presents psychology as it has been transformed and is being transformed by women It discusses the changes that a feminist vision of psychology has made in everything from the methods used to the topics studied. With its solid grounding in contemporary feminist scholarship, this book focuses on important issues such as violence against women, health psychology, work, family, balance, development across the life course, and sexist discrimination. Written to be reader friendly, the book weaves a cohesive story that delivers its main points in a clear and straightforward manner. And rather than separating women's experiences by stereotyped subgroups, this book integrates the diversity of women's experiences to present as inclusive a picture as possible of women and women's lives. An essential reference on feminist influence in psychology for every professional in psychology and sociology.
