Healthy Aging Comparison 2025:

New Pharmacological Approaches to Reproductive Health and Healthy Ageing Werner-Karl Raff, Mahmoud F. Fathalla, Farid Saad, 2013-06-29 Professor Egon Diczfalussy a pioneer in gynaecological endocrinology and in particular female contraception celebrated his 80th birthday with a scientific symposium The participants were scientists from all over the world who had been scholars and close collaborators at different points in time The interdisciplinary meeting consisted of lectures on the epidemiological impacts of ageing its challenge for the pharmaceutical industry philosophical aspects of the future of mankind and the history and future of contraception Three round table discussions addressed the hormonal control of reproduction and ageing new approaches and future perspectives of contraception for women and men and hormone replacement in the elderly

Comparative Health Care Rachel Brunette, 2004

Promoting Healthy Aging Across the Lifespan Elena Carrillo-Alvarez, Miriam Rodriguez-Monforte, Jordi Vilaró, Katherine Simone McGilton, 2024-12-26 Worldwide there is a generalized trend toward aged societies Between 2015 and 2050 the proportion of the world's population over 60 years will nearly double from 12% to 22% As life expectancy continues to increase and natality rates lower not only the composition of countries will change but also its health landscape However an increased life expectancy does not necessarily mean a healthy life In most high income countries more than 20% of those years are lived in ill health due to chronic conditions caused by non communicable diseases which compromises functional ability and well being key components of healthy aging In this way not only people's lives but also societal structures are being affected Based on the life course approach to healthy aging aging starts from conception In this regard the promotion of healthy aging requires preventive strategies that enhance capacities during growth and development maintain them for as long as possible after maturity and slow down their rate of decline Moreover considering healthy aging across the lifespan entails focusing on different factors life opportunities and choices that might significantly influence health status lifestyle as well as health and social inequalities in older age and challenges the focus of most research on the topic which exclusively investigates the effect of influences operating in the later stages of life

Preventative Medicine: Nutritional and Lifestyle Interventions for Healthy Ageing and Chronic Diseases Faith Kwa, Macarena Lozano-Lorca, 2026-01-07 With an exponential growth in the ageing population globally there is an urgent need to seek holistic ways to facilitate healthy ageing and manage chronic diseases to relieve the consequences of significant socio economic and personal burdens Efforts should therefore focus on prevention However this requires a multidisciplinary approach involving healthcare providers communities and individuals Healthcare providers play a paramount role in educating individuals to adopt a healthy lifestyle prescribe medications or recommend supplements Communities are also essential in providing that needed support network for individuals and patients Despite the important role of these healthcare and community stakeholders it is pivotal for individuals to develop a routine of self care and self management through the practice of healthy lifestyle choices and behaviours starting from their early years These health interventions include but are not limited to adequate sleep physical activity healthy diets and the intake of nutritional supplements This Research Topic aims to report the efficacy and mechanisms of action of lifestyle and or nutritional interventions that promote healthy ageing or prevent the occurrence or progression of chronic disease in pre clinical and clinical studies Such literature will provide the evidence to inform healthcare providers communities individuals and patients with chronic disease and to drive health policies and practices that will promote healthy ageing and improve the quality of life for all We welcome original research clinical in vitro and in vivo studies review articles and meta analyses on lifestyles including diet physical activity sleep chronic diseases and healthy ageing We welcome papers on topics including but not limited to Mechanism of action of novel bioactive agents nutritional supplements or naturally occurring compounds present in the diet Relationship between dietary patterns food groups foods or specific nutrients chronic diseases and healthy ageing Combined effects of diet and sports physical activity for the prevention of these diseases Intersections between nutrition and sleep quality sleep duration chronotype and sleep patterns The research presented should describe the mechanisms of actions and or clinical biomarkers involved in the efficacy of the various interventions used to foster healthy ageing and or manage chronic diseases The clinical significance of the data must also be addressed Submissions that do not fulfil these requirements will not be considered for review and publication
