Metabolic Diseases and Healthy Aging: Prevention and Public Health Policy Based on Risk Factors

Yun Gao ,Xiao Tan,Xiaohan Tanner Zhang,2024-11-06 Healthy aging is defined as the process of developing and maintaining the functional ability that enables well being in older age. As population aging accelerates rapidly worldwide healthy aging has become a major public health challenge. However in later life several metabolic diseases such as diabetes and hypertension and their complications cardiovascular and renal diseases et al impose significant barriers to healthy aging. These conditions are influenced by various metabolic risk factors such as smoking high calorie diet and obesity. Moreover these risk factors can also affect the aging process itself by disrupting the balance of metabolic regulation in the body. Therefore understanding the complex interactions between aging and metabolic diseases is essential for improving public health outcomes in older populations. This Research Topic aims to explore the links between metabolic risk factors chronic and metabolic diseases and healthy aging. We wish to unveil evidence on how to prevent treat and manage metabolic risk factors and diseases in older adults in order to offer recommendations for future research and policy interventions toward healthy aging and public health.

Understanding and promoting factors which affect healthy ageing: Physical Activity, Sleep Patterns and nutritional habits

Stevo Popovic,Radenko M. Matic,Juel Jarani , David Paar,2024-09-26 A few clear factors are associated with living longer and healthier such as higher levels of physical activity good sleep patterns and proper nutrition. However despite all the advances that have been made to increase the general population's physical activity improve their sleep patterns and boost their nutritional habits there is still a lot to be done. This Research Topic aims to address the topic of healthy ageing and will consider manuscripts focused on the effects of improving these factors in all ages from childhood to old age. We are mainly interested in questions of broader interventions at the individual home settings group school work and gerontology settings and societal level community based settings We also welcome papers investigating the short and long term effects of environmental factors on physical changes in children working and old age populations and their development Correlational and survey studies examining the issues mentioned above are welcome Healthy Aging Patrick P.
