Training Load in Sport: Current Challenges and Future Perspectives Luís Branquinho, Pedro Forte, Elias De França, Ricardo Ferraz, José Eduardo Teixeira, Ronaldo Thomatieli-Santos, 2025-03-06 Training load is a critical component of athletic development which involves manipulating various parameters such as training intensity volume frequency and density to promote positive adaptations in the athlete's performance. However, training load can also have negative effects such as excessive fatigue, injuries, and overtraining, which can impair the athlete's performance and health. It is therefore crucial to understand how training load can be optimized to improve athletic performance and minimize associated risks. This Research Topic aims to provide a current perspective on the knowledge and challenges associated with the effects of careful manipulation and load management to optimize performance and promote the health of athletes from different sports and competitive levels. The results obtained may be of particular importance for identifying the best and most current load prescription practices in different sports as well as preventive and treatment interventions for injuries related to excessive training. Furthermore, research can provide information about the physiological mechanisms underlying the relationship between training load and athletic performance, which can be useful in developing new, more efficient and safer training strategies.

A Wellness Way of Life Gwen Robbins, Debbie Powers, Sharon Burgess, 2002 From the Cold War to the War on Terror Mick Haygarth, 2020-01-19 A bomb disposal expert shares stories from conflict zones ranging from the Falklands to Kosovo to Iraq. Michael Haygarth left home just before his seventeenth birthday to join the Royal Air Force as a Weapons Technician. At the time everything seemed routine, but his thirty-eight-year career turned out to be anything but. Training with nations all over the world, fast roping out of helicopters with US Army Rangers, being driven around Basra in a beaten-up taxi, wearing civilian clothes with a 9mm pistol in his waistband, convoying at speed around Baghdad with the US Army looking for unexploded bombs – all were way beyond the usual experiences of an RAF Engineer. In his early career, he was a member of a Buccaneer Nuclear Weapon Loading Team stationed in RAF Germany at the height of the Cold War. Frequently woken by sirens in the early morning hours, he'd rush to work, wondering if it was yet another practice or the start of nuclear Armageddon. After further tours and having passed his Bomb Disposal courses, he was then sent to the Falkland Islands. He also served in Kosovo as part of a huge multinational force tasked with clearing thousands of bombs and cluster munitions, as well as working with the International Crimes Tribunal to clear numerous mass graves. He was responsible for all UK Bomb Disposal operations in and around Pristina. Next came an operational tour to Iraq, where he made further use of his bomb disposal expertise. After promotion to Squadron Leader, he worked in the Ministry of Defense and then took charge of the RAF's only Bomb Disposal Squadron as it withdrew from Iraq and was instrumental in refocusing the squadron to carry out operations in Afghanistan alongside the Army. His final role in what was a truly exceptional career was in charge of the RAF's only expeditionary Engineering Squadron as it worked through the busiest period in its history during the UK forces' deployment to Afghanistan.
