Kirby,1991-11 State-Firm Coordination and Upgrading Angela Garcia Calvo,2021-08-19 Since the 1980s Spain and South Korea have experienced a dramatic transformation from middle income to advanced economies While market liberalization and globalization were important forces for change and while states continue to be central in the organization of the Spanish and South Korean economies the liberal and the developmental state perspectives do not provide an understanding of critical elements of these transformations Building on a combination of historical institutionalism and international business literature this book shows that upgrading was underpinned by cooperative models based on interdependencies and quid pro quo exchanges between national governments and large firms The negotiated nature of these arrangements opened the door to institutional variation and enabled Spain and South Korea to pursue different strategies Spain pursued an integrational approach based on foreign direct investment technological outsourcing and regional integration South Korea pursued a techno industrial strategy that prioritized self sufficiency and the development of local technological capacity Both strategies enabled Spanish and South Korean firms across multiple complex sectors to reach the efficiency frontier but resulted in different productive specializations in complex services and manufacturing respectively Through a comparative study this book shifts our perspective on the political economy of economic transformation from markets or states to state firm coordination as a driver for economic transformation from one to at least two different pathways to upgrading and from a world divided into emerging economies and world leaders to a more nuanced perspective that recognizes the perspective of new advanced economies Routledge Handbook of Politics and Technology Ulrich Hilpert, 2015-10-05 This handbook provides a comprehensive global survey of the politics of technology Written by an outstanding line up of distinguished scholars in the field the handbook covers all aspects of the relationship between politics and technology including Demand and support for new technologies and innovation by the state The effects of technology policies Technology development and innovation difference between various countries and regions Policy instruments and techno industrial innovation Dynamism and change as outcomes of government policies Driving forces for science and innovative development Forming the basis of this handbook are examples of regional development country studies and a rich variety of technologies as well as topical issues such as divergent political interests in relation to technology and the economic exploitation of technologies Employing a comparative and interdisciplinary approach in order to analyse the interplay between government activities and the development of new technologies this handbook will be an invaluable resource for all students scholars and practitioners working in the politics of technology public policy and policy analysis The Student's Journal , 1894 Timely Topics Henry Romaine Pattengill, 1897 Union Catalog of Serials Currently Received in the Libraries of the University of Wisconsin--Madison University of Wisconsin--Madison.
