Monchalin, 2016-03-08 Indigenous peoples are vastly overrepresented in the Canadian criminal justice system The Canadian government has framed this disproportionate victimization and criminalization as being an Indian problem In The Colonial Problem Lisa Monchalin challenges the myth of the Indian problem and encourages readers to view the crimes and injustices affecting Indigenous peoples from a more culturally aware position She analyzes the consequences of assimilation policies dishonoured treaty agreements manipulative legislation and systematic racism arguing that the overrepresentation of Indigenous peoples in the Canadian criminal justice system is not an Indian problem but a colonial one      Indigenous

Tamara Starblanket, 2020-04-28 Originally approved as a master of laws thesis by a respected Canadian university this book tackles one of the most compelling issues of our time the crime of genocide and whether in fact it can be said to have occurred in relation to the many Original Nations on Great Turtle Island now claimed by a state called Canada It has been hailed as groundbreaking by many Indigenous and other scholars engaged with this issue impacting not just Canada but states worldwide where entrapped Indigenous nations face absorption by a dominating colonial state Starblanket unpacks

Canada's role in the removal of cultural genocide from the Genocide Convention though the disappearance of an Original Nation by forced assimilation was regarded by many states as equally genocidal as destruction by slaughter Did Canada seek to tailor the definition of genocide to escape its own crimes which were then even ongoing The crime of genocide to be held as such under current international law must address the complicated issue of mens rea not just the commission of a crime but the specific intent to do so This book permits readers to make a judgment on whether or not this was the case Starblanket examines how genocide was operationalized in Canada focused primarily on breaking the intergenerational transmission of culture from parents to children Seeking to absorb the new generations into a different cultural identity English speaking Christian Anglo Saxon termed Canadian Canada seized children from their parents and oversaw and enforced the stripping of their cultural beliefs languages and traditions replacing them by those still in process of being established by the emerging Canadian state

Native Voices Richard A. Grounds, George E. Tinker, David Eugene Wilkins, 2003 Native peoples of North America still face an uncertain future due to their unstable political legal and economic positions Views of their predicament continue to be dominated by non Indian writers In response a dozen Native American writers here reclaim their rightful role as influential voices in debates about Native communities These scholars examine crucial issues of politics law and religion in the context of ongoing Native American resistance to the dominant culture They particularly show how the writings of Vine Deloria Jr have shaped and challenged American Indian scholarship in these areas since 1960s They provide key insights into Deloria's thought while introducing some critical issues confronting Native nations Collectively these essays take up four important themes indigenous societies as the embodiment of cultures of resistance legal resistance to western oppression against indigenous nations contemporary Native religious practices and Native intellectual challenges to academia Essays address indigenous perspectives on topics usually treated by non Indians such as role of women in Indian society the importance of sacred sites to American Indian religious identity and relationship of native language to indigenous autonomy A closing essay by Deloria in vintage form reminds Native Americans of their responsibilities and obligations to one another and to past and future generations This book argues for renewed cultivation of a Native American Studies that is more Indian centered conceptions the functions of stories about the past and the process of defining national and ethnic identities Denver journal of international law and policy, 2001      The Politics of Indigeneity Roger Maaka, Augie Fleras, 2005 Indigenous peoples are increasingly uniting around a commonality of concerns needs and ambitions In both New Zealand and Canada these politics challenge the colonial structures that social and political systems are built upon Both countries have accomplished much in their management of indigenous issues New Zealand has begun to right historical wrongs through treaty settlements and to implement bicultural strategies Canada is experimenting with self government for aboriginal peoples Yet there are still many issues to be addresses with recent statistics showing indigenous peoples in bother these countries struggling to balance functioning in everyday life with preserving their cultures This book casts light on the constitutional politics in both countries that are redefining the relationship of indigenous peoples to the state A unique and timely discussion      Sovereignty Matters Joanne Barker, 2005 Chiefly papers presented at a conference entitled Sovereignty 2000 Locations of Contestation and Possibility held May 2000 at the University of California Santa Cruz      Critical Readings Canadian Race Relations Foundation, Darlyn Mentor, Beverley K.
