Language, Learning, and Culture in Early Childhood Ann Anderson, Jim Anderson, Jan Hare, Marianne McTavish, 2015-12-07 Complex factors affect young children and their families in today's increasingly diverse world characterized by globalization, the transnational movement of people, and neo liberal government policies in western and industrialized countries. This book focuses on three of these factors: culture, language, and learning, and how they affect children's development and learning in the context of their communities, families, and schools. Taking an ecological perspective, it challenges normative and hegemonic views of young children's language, literacy, and numeracy development, and offers examples of demonstrated educational practices that acknowledge and build on the knowledge that children develop and learn in culturally specific ways in their homes and communities. The authors highlight issues and perspectives that are particular to Indigenous people who have been subjected to centuries of assimilationist and colonialist policies and practices, and the importance of first or home language maintenance and its cognitive, cultural, economic, psychological, and social benefits. Links are provided to a package of audio, video, and resources at <http://blogs.ubc.ca/intersectionworkshop>, including key note speeches and interviews with leading international scholars, and a collection of vignettes from the workshop from which this volume was produced.

A Decade of Research on School Principals Helene Ärlestig, Christopher Day, Olof Johansson, 2015-11-13 This book provides a unique map of the focus and directions of contemporary research on school leadership since 2000 in 24 countries. Each of these directions has its own particular cultural, educational, and policy history. Taken together, the various chapters in the volume provide a rich and varied mosaic of what is currently known and what is yet to be discovered about the roles and practices of principals and their contributions to the improvement of teaching and the learning and achievement of students. The particular foci and methodological emphases of the research reported illustrate the different phases in the development of educational policies and provision in each country. This collection is an important addition to existing international research that has shown beyond any reasonable doubt that the influence of school principals is second only to that of teachers in their capacity to impact students' progress and achievement and to Language, Learning, and Disability in the Education of Young Bilingual Children Dina C. Castro,Alfredo J. Artiles,2021-04-27 Using an interdisciplinary perspective to discuss the intersection of language development and learning processes this book summarizes current knowledge and represents the most critical issues regarding early childhood research policy and practice related to young bilingual children with disabilities. The book begins with a conceptual framework focusing on the intersection between the fields of early childhood education, bilingual education and special education. It goes on to review and discuss the role of bilingualism in young children's development and the experiences of young bilingual children with disabilities in early care and education settings including issues of eligibility and access to care, instruction and assessment. The book explores family experiences, teacher preparation, accountability and policy, ending with recommendations for future research which will inform both policies and practices for the education of young bilingual children with disabilities. This timely volume provides valuable guidance for teachers, administrators, policymakers and researchers.

The EU's External Action Service Doris Dialer, Heinrich Neisser, Anja Opitz, 2014 The creation of the European External Action Service (EEAS) is one of the most significant changes introduced by the Treaty of Lisbon. Often referred to as the EU's Diplomatic Service, it is aimed at enabling greater coherence and efficiency in EU's external action. On 1 December 2010 the EEAS started its work. Over the past three years the EEAS has been variously criticised. Considering the uncertainties about the division of labour and responsibilities, some of the criticism is justified. Albeit it will require more than a few bureaucratic changes to make the EEAS to speak with one voice. This book attempts not only to focus on the shortcomings concerning the implementation of the EEAS but it also reflects on the added values of the service. For academics and practitioners alike, Dialer, Neisser and Opitz provide a balanced and fine grained account of the role and functions of the EEAS and invite their readers to further discuss and research on this topic.

The Bioarchaeology of Ritual and Religion Alexandra Livarda, Richard Madgwick, Santiago Riera Mora, 2018 Employing new theoretical and practical approaches this volume explores the diverse roles of plant, animal and other organic remains in ritual and religion as foods, offerings, sensory or healing mediums, grave goods and worked artifacts, shedding light on the reconstruction of ritual processes and the framing of rituals.

The Resilience of the Roman Empire Dimitri van Limbergen, Sadi Maréchal, Wim De Clercq, 2020 The Resilience of the Roman Empire discusses the relationship between population and regional development in the Roman world from the perspective of archaeology By adapting a comparative approach the focus of the volume lies on exploring the various ways in which regional communities actively responded to population growth or decline in order to keep going on the land available to them The starting point of the theoretical framework for the case studies is the agricultural intensification models developed by Thomas Malthus and Ester Boserup In order to advance the debate on the validity of these models for identifying the societal and economic pathways of the Roman world the contributors incorporate the concepts of resilience and diversity into their approach and shift attention from the longue durée to how people managed to sustain themselves over shorter periods of time. The aim of the volume is not to discard the theories of Malthus and Boserup but rather to deconstruct overly strict Malthusian or Boserupian scenarios and as such introduce novel and more layered ways of thinking by exploring resilience and variability in human responses to population growth decline in the Roman world.
