Education for a Changing World draws on the outcomes of the cutting edge research programmes of the UK based Centre for Global Higher Education the world's largest social science research centre focused on higher education and its future. In countries with incomes at European levels the majority of all families now have connections to higher education and there is widespread popular interest in how it can be made better. Together the contributors sharply illuminate key issues of public and policy interest across the world. Do research universities make society more equal or more unequal? Are students graduating with too much debt? Who do we want to be attending universities? Will learning technologies will abolish the need for bricks and mortar higher education institutions? What can countries do to improve their scientific performance? How can comparative teaching assessment and research assessment become much more effective? The book explores higher education in the major higher education regions including China, Europe, the UK and the USA. Student Debt William Elliott III, Melinda K. Lewis, 2017-01-26. Offering answers to essential questions about student debt and many connected issues this book examines student debt in the United States at every stage of the process from the banks that issue the loans to the colleges and universities that collect the payments. Student lending in the United States is one of the most controversial issues in contemporary American discourse. Are these loans the only option for Americans who want to attend college and university in order to attain the best careers and have a productive, enjoyable life? Should the predatory lending practices of for profit colleges and universities be stopped? How can limits be imposed on student lending amounts without preventing students from getting the education they need to succeed? The book explains why so many students are borrowing large amounts of money to attend college, considers whether the cost of higher education is simply too high and if there should be a cap on how much money students can borrow. It explains what is contributing to the rising rate of borrowers defaulting on their loans and predicts whether the so called student loan bubble is in danger of popping. The Data and Documents chapter analyzes data gathered from discussions about student debt. This information enables readers to better understand who is borrowing student loans, what the money from the student loans is going toward, what individuals have the authority to decide who qualifies for these loans and what is being done to curb wasteful student spending.
