Reinforcement Learning and Optimal Control Dimitri Bertsekas,2019-07-01

This book considers large and challenging multistage decision problems which can be solved in principle by dynamic programming DP but their exact solution is computationally intractable We discuss solution methods that rely on approximations to produce suboptimal policies with adequate performance These methods are collectively known by several essentially equivalent names reinforcement learning approximate dynamic programming neuro dynamic programming They have been at the forefront of research for the last 25 years and they underlie among others the recent impressive successes of self learning in the context of games such as chess and Go Our subject has benefited greatly from the interplay of ideas from optimal control and from artificial intelligence as it relates to reinforcement learning and simulation based neural network methods One of the aims of the book is to explore the common boundary between these two fields and to form a bridge that is accessible by workers with background in either field Another aim is to organize coherently the broad mosaic of methods that have proved successful in practice while having a solid theoretical and or logical foundation This may help researchers and practitioners to find their way through the maze of competing ideas that constitute the current state of the art This book relates to several of our other books Neuro Dynamic Programming Athena Scientific 1996 Dynamic Programming and Optimal Control 4th edition Athena Scientific 2017 Abstract Dynamic Programming 2nd edition Athena Scientific 2018 and Nonlinear Programming Athena Scientific 2016 However the mathematical style of this book is somewhat different While we provide a rigorous albeit short mathematical account of the theory of finite and infinite horizon dynamic programming and some fundamental approximation methods we rely more on intuitive explanations and less on proof based insights Moreover our mathematical requirements are quite modest calculus a minimal use of matrix vector algebra and elementary probability mathematically complicated arguments involving laws of large numbers and stochastic convergence are bypassed in favor of intuitive explanations The book illustrates the methodology with many examples and illustrations and uses a gradual expository approach which proceeds along four directions a From exact DP to approximate DP We first discuss exact DP algorithms explain why they may be difficult to implement and then use them as the basis for approximations b From finite horizon to infinite horizon problems We first discuss finite horizon exact and approximate DP methodologies which are intuitive and mathematically simple and then progress to infinite horizon problems c From deterministic to stochastic models We often discuss separately deterministic and stochastic problems since deterministic problems are simpler and offer special advantages for some of our methods d From model based to model free implementations We first discuss model based implementations and then we identify schemes that can be appropriately modified to work with a simulator The book is related and supplemented by the companion research monograph Rollout Policy Iteration and Distributed Reinforcement Learning Athena Scientific 2020 which focuses more closely on several topics related to rollout approximate policy iteration multiagent problems discrete and Bayesian optimization and distributed computation which are either discussed in less detail or not covered at all in the present book The author's website contains class notes and a series of videolectures and slides from a 2021 course at ASU which address a selection of topics from both books Integrated Circuit and System Design. Power and Timing Modeling, Optimization and Simulation José L. Ayala, Delong Shang, Alex Yakovlev, 2013-01-03 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 22nd International Conference on Integrated Circuit and System Design PATMOS 2012 held in Newcastle UK Spain in September 2012 The 25 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions The paper feature emerging challenges in methodologies and tools for the design of upcoming generations of integrated circuits and systems including reconfigurable hardware such as FPGAs The technical program focus on timing performance and power consumption as well as architectural aspects with particular emphasis on modeling design characterization analysis and optimization     Sleep Research ,1995     Arts Park LA ,1992     Hankey's Clinical Neurology Philip B.
