Pet Architecture Guide :

Pet architecture guide book Kesaharu Imai,2001 Pet architecture is a term for the buildings that have been squeezed into left over urban spaces Curious shapes and inventive solutions for drainage windows and air conditioning abound Most of all it is the extraordinary miniature size of these shacks store rooms sushi bars and bike shops which makes this project so fresh Lovingly researched by a team of very young Japanese architects each pet includes a humorous description full page photograph a map and 3d sketch 38 South Nigel Bertram,Shane Murray,2005 38 south is the document of record for urban focused architectural research from the School of Architecture and Design at RMIT University In this issue the publication assumes its new role of presenting research from the Urban Architecture Laboratory The UAL was established in 2002 with the explicit aim of providing a specialised research environment for intensive and focussed architectural research that engages with contemporary urban issues This edition of 38 south is a progress report on the activities of UAL over its first two and a half years As such this body of work from candidates in the program provides both reflective and prospective interpretations of our evolving understanding of the role that the laboratory can play Ed Furniture, Structure, Infrastructure Nigel Bertram,2017-03-02 Observation and analysis are types of invention They make things apparent which perhaps were invisible By noticing drawing and naming something we bring it into being On the other hand building and making can be thought of as analytical observations pointing out what had not been so clear before and revealing the potential for other actions yet to occur This book is a collection of urban research and architectural projects by award winning architects Nigel Bertram NMBW Architecture Studio using observation as a design tool and design as an observational method Through this process a position on the making of architecture and on the role of architecture within the wider urban environment is established embracing the full messy reality of the present finding delight in the everyday and developing sensitivity to a range of found environments By taking pre existing conditions seriously each project architectural or analytical large or small becomes understood as the strategic renovation of a continuing state This method of working operates by thinking simultaneously at different scales from furniture to structure and infrastructure searching for combinations of what might normally be separated into different categories moving between the many small and ad hoc actions of individuals to wider systems of collective organisation Thinking about the effects of small moves on the larger urban field and vice versa the role of unplanned or uncontrolled events in relation to the inward focus of design thinking about the combinatory effect of what is newly made with what is already there for example enables architecture and the city to be understood in relative terms in terms of relationships Between people groups of people things and parts of things actions and groups of actions urban architecture is the social arrangement of activity with the physical arrangement of large and small parts of its environment But what people do also changes the place in which they do it Considering different scales and types of relationships between individuals and groups insiders and outsiders expected and unexpected actions can be a way of crossing categories and establishing new relations Breaking down components of a given situation or brief before re grouping can be used to flatten and redistribute hierarchies embedded within Similarly finding ways of carefully observing things just as they are in the present helps to see around the presuppositions of familiarity without worrying about cause or effect These aims techniques and thoughts are presented through the discipline of the architectural project where precise strategies must in the end be found to define an exact physical arrangement and materiality usually at minimum cost This collection of works researches the manner in which such precision can also generate openness and indeterminacy allowing and provoking the engagement of others

The Fractal Dimension of Architecture Michael J. Ostwald, Josephine Vaughan, 2016-09-01 Fractal analysis is a method for measuring analysing and comparing the formal or geometric properties of complex objects In this book it is used to investigate eighty five buildings that have been designed by some of the twentieth century s most respected and celebrated architects Including designs by Le Corbusier Eileen Gray Frank Lloyd Wright Robert Venturi Frank Gehry Peter Eisenman Richard Meier and Kazuyo Sejima amongst others this book uses mathematics to analyse arguments and theories about some of the world s most famous designs Starting with 625 reconstructed architectural plans and elevations and including more than 200 specially prepared views of famous buildings this book presents the results of the largest mathematical study ever undertaken into architectural design and the largest single application of fractal analysis presented in any field The data derived from this study is used to test three overarching hypotheses about social stylistic and personal trends in design along with five celebrated arguments about twentieth century architecture Through this process the book offers a unique mathematical insight into the history and theory of design

Design Research in Architecture Murray Fraser, 2021-07-28 What is the role of design research in the types of insight and knowledge that architects create That is the central question raised by this book It acts as the introductory overview for Ashgate s major new series Design Research in Architecture which has been created in order to establish a firm basis for this emerging field of investigation within architecture While there have been numerous architects scholars since the Renaissance who have relied upon the interplay of drawings models textual analysis intellectual ideas and cultural insights to scrutinise the discipline nonetheless until recently there has been a reluctance within architectural culture to acknowledge and accept the role of design research as part of the discourse However in many countries around the world one of the key changes in architecture and architectural education over the last decade has been the acceptance of design as a legitimate research area in its own right and this new series provides a forum where the best proponents of architectural design research can publish their work This volume provides a broad overview on design research that supports and amplifies the different volumes coming out in the book series It brings together leading architects and academics to discuss the more general issues involved in design research At the end there is an Indicative Bibliography which alludes to a long history of architectural books which can be seen as being in the spirit of design research

Pragmatic Sustainability Steven A. Moore, 2016-07-04 This second edition of Pragmatic Sustainability proposes a pragmatic discursive and pluralistic approach to thinking about sustainability Rather than suggesting a single solution to the problem of how to live sustainably this collection discusses broader approaches to social and environmental change Eight continuing authors and seven new ones adjust their dispositions toward rapidly changing and still unsustainable conditions forging agreements and disagreements on five overlapping themes the Grounds for Sustainability the critique of Technological Culture the need to conceive of Sustainability in Place in Cities finally asking how should we reimagine the fraught relationship between Civil Society Industry and Regulation Editor Steven A Moore asks how a set of ideas now more than a century old remains relevant A partial answer can be found in reconstructing the very modern ideas confronted by those who came to call themselves Pragmatists at the beginning of the twentieth century evolution ecology and design Moore argues that we have yet to develop dispositions in theory and practice that critically integrate these ideas into sustainable development In sum this new edition provides a fresh and hopeful look at the wicked problems deliberated by almost anyone engaged in adapting to the always changing conditions of the built world The Warp of the Formal, the Weft of the Everyday Catherine Ginevra Fong Lydon,2007 Technonatures Damian F. White,Chris Wilbert,2009-05-19 International contributors map the political ecologies of our technonatural present and indicate possible paths for technonatural futures
