It draws upon findings from Research Mobilities in Primary Literacy Education an innovative and interdisciplinary study conducted in England and supported by the Economic and Social Research Council ES W000571 1 The study investigated the types of literacy research that reach teachers the ways in which human and non human actors mobilise research and the transformation of research as it circulates. The book argues that for teachers to foster genuinely inclusive literacy classrooms they need to be equipped to draw on understandings associated with a variety of theoretical perspectives and research traditions. It further explores the dynamics of research dissemination and the factors that influence the uptake and application of research findings in educational contexts. This work is an original and groundbreaking contribution to debates about the scope and focus of literacy education the role of evidence based teaching and approaches to professional learning. Critique of Pure Teaching Methods and the Case of Synthetic Phonics Andrew Davis, 2019-05-30 A Critique of Pure Teaching Methods and the Case of Synthetic Phonics examines how research into the effectiveness of teaching methods can and should relate to what takes place in the classroom. The discussion brings to light some important features of the way we classify teaching activities. The classifications are unlike those we use in natural science for instance how we classify drug dosages. This point has very important implications for what should be considered the appropriate relationships between educational research and classroom practice. Andrew Davis applies the results of this discussion to the teaching of early reading focussing in particular on the approach known as synthetic phonics. He provides a philosophical investigation into the nature of reading and into the concepts that feature in approaches to teaching it such as the idea of building words from letter sounds the nature of words themselves and reading for meaning. He concludes with a discussion of why this matters so much reflecting on how stories and books can be part of a child's emerging identity within the family. He explores how values of family life should be weighed against the importance of achievements in school and argues for the claim that school reading policies of certain kinds may have a destructive impact if they are felt to trump the private interests of children and their families Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff, Staff Bowker, Ed, 2004 El-Hi Textbooks and Serials in Print, 2006 Welcome: Teacher's book James David Cooper, 1999 El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2003, 2003 El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2005, 2005 Literacy Place, 1996 Literature Works, 1996 Children's
