Mediating Environmental Conflicts Theory And Practice:

Mediating Environmental Conflicts J. Walton Blackburn, Willa M. Bruce, 1995-06-13 Environmental conflicts are increasing in number and intensity demanding new approaches to dispute resolution such as environmental mediation. This book contains the expertise of 28 specialists stresses the need for mediated dispute resolution as an alternative to litigation. It calls for a communitarian approach explores conceptual foundations and conflicts resistant to mediation and answers How do we know what we know? Addresses training mediators discusses special problems of small communities value of citizen participation and EPA regulatory negotiation explores ethics and social justice and considers future challenges and issues confronting theory and practice. Case studies analyze nuclear waste siting, highway design, wilderness designation, field burning and Environmental Impact Statement development. Intended for alternative dispute resolution practitioners, scholars and citizen environmentalists. Authors provide insights from many academic disciplines and practical experience. Reed advocates creating sustainable communities. O'Leary calls for new research. Maida contends that law and economics offer viable perspectives and Allen prescribes mediation training. Dworkin and Jordan contribute a teaching case. Klase addresses problems in rural areas and the Burgesses offer steps to make difficult confrontations constructive. Clary and Hornsey argue that prenegotiation and negotiation are essential. Richardson describes facilitated negotiation and Bogdonoff explains negotiated rule making in Maine. Stephens, Stephens and Dukes suggest that ethical considerations are due the environment. Blackford and Matunga advise sensitivity to cultural differences. Ryan demonstrates the utility of conflict management by the EPA. Wood and Guy describe how local governments can achieve consensus and Baird, Maughan and Nilson offer reasons mediation failed in Idaho. Mangerich and Luton describe an urban rural conflict in Washington state and Blackburn provides his Eclectic Theory to guide future research.

The Promise and Performance of Environmental Conflict Resolution
Rosemary O'Leary, Lisa B. Bingham, 2003 Environmental conflict resolution (ECR) is a process of negotiation that allows stakeholders in a dispute to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement on their own terms. The tools of ECR such as facilitation, mediation and conflict assessment suggest that it fits well with other ideas for reforming environmental policy. First used in 1974, ECR has been an official part of policymaking since the mid 1990s. This is the first book to evaluate systematically the results of these efforts. The contributions to this book critically investigate the record and potential of ECR, drawing on perspectives from political science, public administration, regional planning, philosophy, psychology, anthropology and law.

Environmental Governance Reconsidered Robert F. Durant, Daniel J. Fiorino, Rosemary O'Leary, 2004-05-07 A comprehensive in-depth and thematically integrated analysis of key issues in environmental governance today from perspectives including environmental economics, democratic theory, public policy, law, political science and public administration.

Managing Interpersonal Conflict Nancy A. Burrell, Mike Allen, Barbara Mae Gayle, Raymond W. Preiss, 2014-02-05 Managing Interpersonal Conflict is a systematic review of conflict research in legal, institutional and relational contexts Each chapter represents a summary of the existing quantitative social science research using meta analysis with contexts ranging from jury selection to peer mediation to homophobia reduction The contributors provide connections between cutting edge scholarship about abstract theoretical arguments the needs of instructional and training pedagogy and practical applications of information The meta analysis approach produces a unique informational resource offering answers to key research questions addressing conflict This volume serves as an invaluable resource for studying conflict mediation negotiation and facilitation in coursework implementing and planning training programs designing interventions creating workshops and conducting studies of conflict Resolving International Conflicts Jacob Bercovitch,1996 Mediation is one of the most important methods of settling conflicts in the post Cold War world This text represents the most recent trends in the process and practice of international mediation Working Through Environmental Conflict Steven E. Daniels, Gregg B. Walker, 2001-04-30 Environmental and natural resource policy decision making is changing Increasingly citizens and management agency personnel are seeking ways to do things differently to participate meaningfully in the decision making process as parties work through policy conflicts Doing things differently has come to mean doing things collaboratively Daniels and Walker examine collaboration in environmental and natural resource policy decision making and conflict management They address collaboration by featuring a method collaborative learning that has been designed to address decision making and conflict management needs in complex and controversial policy settings As they illustrate collaborative learning differs in some significant ways from existing approaches for dealing with policy decision making public participation and conflict management First it is a hybrid of systems thinking and alternative dispute resolution concepts Second it is grounded explicitly in experiential team or organizational and adult learning theories It is a theory based framework through which parties can make progress in the management of controversial environmental policy situations They discuss both the theory and technique of collaborative learning and present cases where it has been applied This is a professional and teaching tool for scholars students and researchers involved with environmental issues as well as dispute resolution The Oxford Handbook of Environmental and Conservation Psychology Susan D.
