potential practitioners and activists interested in community action and emancipatory social change It reflects on the underlying principles of development what development is why it is promoted and the implications for practice indicating potential strategies and goals Uumajursiutik unaatuinnamut / Hunter with Harpoon / Chasseur au harpon Markoosie Patsauq, 2021-01-20 Fifty years ago Markoosie Patsauq then a bush pilot in his late twenties living in the tiny isolated High Arctic community of Resolute spent his spare time quietly writing a story that effectively emerged as the first Indigenous novel released in Canada Published in English under the title Harpoon of the Hunter in 1970 by McGill Queen's University Press that version of the story was Patsauq's own adaptation In the years that followed the widely acclaimed English edition was translated into many different languages but what has remained obscured until the present day is the Inuktitut text originally produced by the author In collaboration with Patsauq Valerie Henitiuk and Marc Antoine Mahieu have foregrounded the original Inuktitut text to inform their translations into both English and French This critical edition complete with the story in both Inuktitut syllabics and Latin script utilizes the author's handwritten manuscript as well as interviews with Patsauq to produce a new rigorous examination of this literary and cultural milestone This work also includes the first comprehensive account of the critical response to his writing while underscoring the way the much altered English adaptation from 1970 shaped that response A momentous achievement that situates a new classic in the twenty first century Hunter with Harpoon brings readers back to the roots of Markoosie Patsauq's Inuit story to experience it as it was originally written Bilingual Learners and Social Equity Ruth Harman, 2017-08-13 This volume explores how educators conceptualized and implemented critical approaches to systemic functional linguistics that support bilingual students in appropriating and challenging dominant knowledge domains in K-16 contexts The researchers exhibit a shared commitment to enacting a culturally sustaining SFL praxis that validates multilingual meaning making pushes against social inequity and fosters creative re-mixing of available semiotic resources It should prove a valuable resource for students teachers and researchers interested in applied linguistics education and critical theory Heartthrobs Carol Dyhouse, 2017-02-09 From dreams of Prince Charming or dashing military heroes to the lure of dark strangers and vampire lovers from rock stars and rebels to soulmates dependable family types or simply good companions female fantasies about men tell us a great deal about the history of women In Heartthrobs Carol Dyhouse draws upon literature cinema and popular romance to show how the changing cultural and economic position of women has shaped their dreams about men When girls were supposed to be shrinking violets passionate females risked being seen as unbridled or dangerously out of control Change came slowly and young women remained trapped in a double bind you may have needed a husband in order to survive but you had to avoid looking like a gold digger Show attraction too openly and you might be judged fast and undesirable Education and wage earning brought independence and a widening of horizons for women These new economic beings showed a sustained appetite for novel reading cinema going and the dancehall They sighed over Rudolph Valentino's screen performances as tango dancer or Arab tribesman and desert lover Women may have been ridiculed for these obsessions but as consumers they had new clout This book reveals changing patterns of desire and looks at men through the eyes of women

Kane,2014-08-13 These days we take for granted that our computer screens and even our phones will show us images in vibrant full color Digital color is a fundamental part of how we use our devices but we never give a thought to how it is produced or how it came about Chromatic Algorithms reveals the fascinating history behind digital color tracing it from the work of a few brilliant computer scientists and experimentally minded artists in the late 1960s and early 70s through to its appearance in commercial software in the early 1990s Mixing philosophy of technology aesthetics and media analysis Carolyn Kane shows how revolutionary the earliest computer generated colors were built with the massive postwar number crunching machines these first examples of computer art were so fantastic that artists and computer scientists regarded them as psychedelic even revolutionary harbingers of a better future for humans and machines But Kane shows the explosive growth of personal computing and its accompanying need for off the shelf software led to standardization and the gradual closing of the experimental field in which computer artists had thrived Even so the gap between the bright bold presence of color onscreen and the increasing abstraction of its underlying code continues to lure artists and designers from a wide range of fields and Kane draws on their work to pose fascinating questions about the relationships among art code science and media in the twenty first century Setting the Standard Elizabeth Paige
