Dispute Settlement and the Belt and Road Initiative Jamieson M. Kirkwood, 2025-12-05 This book presents a response to the numerous calls for instituting a rules based approach in Belt and Road Initiative BRI dispute resolution The theoretical framework developed here builds a case that the BRI is a demonstration of China s growing use of soft power and that BRI dispute settlement consequently operates on the basis of a power oriented approach The work analyses what a rules based approach in dispute resolution means explores what the BRI actually is and what BRI disputes are It then considers why rules are understood to be necessary in BRI dispute resolution and finally sets out policy proposals It will be of interest to academics researchers and policymakers working in the areas of Chinese Law Alternative Dispute Resolution International Investment Law World Trade Law and Comparative Law Critical Praxis and the Social Imaginary for Sustainable Food Systems Max Stephenson, Kim Niewolny, Anna Erwin , Laura Zanolini, 2024-09-26 Scholarship and high level diplomatic reports alike including that of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change 2021 have highlighted the negative material and bodily inequities of our globalized industrial food system one that is fuelled by a hegemonic politics of food access and availability The effects of industrialized food systems on public health human rights food sovereignty ecological sustainability for land and water as well as for climate change are increasingly obvious These ongoing challenges along with the COVID 19 pandemic have exacerbated existing social economic and political inequalities and vulnerabilities and placed them in the spotlight The crisis in the Ukraine has also underscored how connected global industrialized food systems are to nation state geopolitical interests international alliances trade relations and conflicts The current industrialized resource intensive food system has persisted because of a complex set of power relations despite its continuing and deepening social ecological and cultural costs Digital Justice Linda Mulcahy, Anna Tsalapatanis, 2024-08-27 This book explores an increasingly important issue for legal systems across the world It asks what do we lose and gain when legal proceedings go online Adopting a multi disciplinary socio legal perspective it draws on an emerging body of empirical evidence from the UK Australia Canada and the US about the ways in which digital justice is being conceived of and experienced Insights are drawn from across the social sciences to discuss the interface of digitalisation with a range of issues such as due process procedural justice digital disadvantage ceremony and ritual science and technology studies and the dematerialisation of the civic sphere Written accessibly and provocatively it poses questions from a variety of different perspective with a particular focus on marginalised groups International Trade Reporter , 2008 The Law of the Sea and Maritime Boundary Disputes in Areas of Hydrocarbon Potential Vivek Chandra, 2023-09-22 The United Nations Convention on the Law of Sea UNCLOS is hailed as one of the most significant multilateral legal agreements executed in the past few decades However its shortcomings are neither trivial nor inconsequential especially regarding maritime boundary disputes involving hydrocarbon resources This monograph examines the relationship between UNCLOS and maritime boundaries in five non polar regions encompassing almost 90% of global unresolved disputes involving offshore hydrocarbon development The regions which include the eastern Mediterranean the Caspian Sea the Persian Gulf northeast Asia and the South China Sea were chosen for their oil and gas resources potential and recent military skirmishes that have the potential to lead to wider regional confrontations The book addresses each region's maritime boundary status in the context of specific articles within UNCLOS that have been exploited by disputing states to justify their overlapping claims The history and future applicability of multilateral Joint Development Area agreements for each region are evaluated for their potential to provide a cooperative solution to resolve ongoing tensions Highlighting the limitations of current gun boat diplomacy the monograph makes practical suggestions for new paradigms for resolving outstanding disputes promoting lasting peace and generating economic benefits resulting from resource development

Trade Agreements at the Crossroads Susy Frankel, Meredith Lewis, 2013-11-20 The book examines trade agreements in the context of the current world economic crisis and the uncompleted World Trade Organization WTO Doha Round of trade negotiations With economies shrinking and protectionism on the rise many fear a protracted global recession This raises important questions as to what role trade agreements multilateral plurilateral and bilateral should be playing in the current climate of uncertainty and how best to plan for a more stable economic future Previous assumptions are now being questioned making this an opportune time to critically examine the WTO free trade agreements bilateral investment treaties and other international economic law instruments Furthermore participants in international agreements are concerned with emerging issues that have the potential to strengthen or weaken the global trading system including matters of treaty interpretation terms of new agreements and effects of existing provisions This book provides a timely addition to the international economic law literature as its submissions have been prepared during a time of unusual uncertainty and economic change individuals interested in international economic law will seek scholarship that recognizes the current international economic climate This book should be of interest to a wide range of academics and student researchers as well as policymakers and practitioners
